Disarmament of Mexican Catholics Ordered

CATHOLIC PRIESTS VACATE CHURCHES IN MEXICO TODAY

Action Will Be Taken in Protest Against New Religious Laws, Effective Saturday.

LABOR WILL FIGHT PROPOSED BOYCOTT

Catholic Authorities Issue Warning to Church Members Not To Make Public Demonstrations.

Mexico City, July 29.—(AP)—Attorney General Ortega announced tonight that he had ordered the disarmament of all Catholics throughout Mexico. He explained that this action was taken because of reports of secret night meetings by various groups, which the authorities feared were for the purpose of developing opposition to the religious laws.

While labor and political groups have organized extensive parades for Sunday as a manifestation of support of the government's religious policy, Catholics throughout the country are planning to proceed to their churches for prayers, notwithstanding the absence of officiating clergymen.

The last Catholic church services at which priests will officiate, will be held tomorrow, an order to this effect having come from the office of the archbishop of Mexico, the Most Rev. Mora y del Rio. Priests are instructed to leave the churches and not conduct services on Saturday, in order to synchronize the cessation of services with the going into effect of the religious regulations Saturday.

People Are Apprehensive.

Uneasiness, uncertainty and apprehension are manifest everywhere, and Mexico City is filled with all sorts of rumors and reports.

The authorities in some places already have taken a hand in the case of newspaper editors publishing articles and editorials which the officials considered objectionable. One Tampico, two Chihuahua City and a Mexico City editor have been "consigned" on this charge, which is equivalent to preferring a complaint and may or may not involve actual imprisonment. The religious regulations forbid religious publications or those of marked religious character commenting on, or carrying any news items, concerning the government's activities.

Although printing much local news on the religious situation, as well as dispatches showing foreign reaction, the Mexico City newspapers are maintaining absolute editorial silence. They feature special dispatches from New York declaring that the United States government will not take any hand in the affair and that the pope will not interdict Mexican Catholic churches.

Mediation Is Considered.

Some foreign diplomats, including the French and Spanish, are giving serious consideration to a movement seeking to have the diplomatic corps offer its services as friendly mediators in the religious struggle. James R.

McPherson Case Will Be Reopened By Grand Jurors

Action Is Caused by Story She Lived Ten Days in Bungalow in Carmel-by-the Sea.

ORMISTON FIGURES IN LATEST PROBE

Subpoenas Have Been Issued for Mrs. McPherson and for Witnesses From Carmel.

Los Angeles, Calif., July 29.—(AP)—Aimee Semple McPherson, evangelist, will be called before the county grand jury here next week to face persons from Carmel-by-the-Sea who have identified her from photographs as resembling the woman who visited there 10 days after Mrs. McPherson's recent disappearance.

This became certain tonight when subpoenaes were issued for the appearance Tuesday of Mrs. McPherson, while an officer left for Carmel to serve similar papers on several witnesses.

Perjury Intimated.

Asked whether new investigation was to determine whether the evangelist committed perjury when she recently told her story of kidnaping to the grand jury, District Attorney Asa Keyes said:

"Yes, Mrs. McPherson or any other witness who testified before the grand jury.

Other developments in the investigation include the turning over of finger prints from the Carmel cottage to police experts for study and the alleged discovery of a new witness here who claims to have information placing the evangelist in Los Angeles June 19, four days before she reappeared in Mexico.

Deputy District Attorney Joe Ryan refused to disclose the name of the new witness in the case, but said that he would testify before the grand jury. His information concerns a telephone call in which he was asked to drive a party to the Mexican border with the stipulation that he would drive only at night.

Places Responsibility.

Foreman William Carter of the grand jury issued a statement placing responsibility for the new inquiry on the district attorney.

"We don't want any more beating about the bush about this case," he said. "I hope the district attorney has sufficient evidence to indict and convict or we do not want to handle it. We have been willing all along to get to the bottom of this if a legitimate charge, substantiated by the evidence, was forthcoming, and we hope that the district attorney will not present the case again unless he has sufficient evidence to warrant an indictment."

Witnesses at Carmel, for whom subpoenas were said to have been issued, include Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Benedict, owner of the cottage which a man identified as Kenneth G. Ormiston, former Angelus temple radio operator, and a woman are alleged to have occupied for 10 days.

DEMOCRATS HOPE FOR MORE SEATS IN NEW CONGRESS

Representative Oldfield, Chairman of Congressional Campaign Committee, Returns From West.

Washington, July 29.—(Special.)—Representative Oldfield, of Arkansas, chairman of the democratic congressional campaign committee, has returned here, after a survey of conditions in several states west of the Mississippi, more confident than ever that the democrats will gain enough seats in the coming campaign to permit them to organize the house in the seventieth congress.

Oldfield said he is certain the democrats "will gain two seats in the house and one senator in Missouri."

He would not make any prediction as to the outcome of the fight among the democrats for the senatorial toga now held by George H. Williams, of Missouri, who was appointed successor to the late Selden P. Spencer to serve until the November election. He declared that his committee has steadfastly refused to take sides in primary contests, and any expression from him at this time might be resented by the candidates.

But other democratic leaders here freely predict that Representative Harry B. Hawes will win the democratic nomination for senator in the primary next Tuesday, and that he will defeat Senator Williams in November.

Reports Encourage Him.

Oldfield said he found in his mail many encouraging reports from democratic workers in New York, New Jersey, Maryland, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana and other pivotal states, indicating that the democrats will "pick up" several seats in each of those states, sufficient to overcome the majority of 60 now held by republicans in the house. He argues that a gain of from 35 to 40 seats will insure a safe working majority in the house, and he declares the outlook for such a turnover is promising.

The operation of the Fordney-McCumber tariff act, which he claims discriminates against the farmers and the mass of consumers, and the failure of the Coolidge administration to enact remedial farm relief legislation are outstanding issues in the congressional campaigns. Emphasis will also be placed by the democrats in the campaign on the fact that congress, under republican leadership, has failed to enact any coal legislation to prevent the recurrence of strikes, legislation for the return of alien property and laws to end the Muscle Shoals controversy.

Orators to Be Used.

Senator Gerry, democrat, Rhode Island, chairman of the senatorial campaign committee, and Oldfield will join forces in September as far as the speakers bureau is concerned and plans are in the making whereby party orators will be concentrated in pivotal states where the outlook is encouraging.

Oldfield is convinced that the popularity of the Coolidge administration is on the wane and the time is opportune for the democrats to make an aggressive campaign this fall 'to be climaxed by the election of a president in 1928."

WOMAN IS SLAIN WHEN SHE REFUSES TO WED ADMIRER

St. Petersburg, Fla., July 29.—(AP) Mrs. Maude Bruton, 30, died tonight at a local hospital from gunshot wounds inflicted late this afternoon by R. J. Humphries, an admirer, formerly of Spartanburg, S. C. Humphries, who is being held by police pending the outcome of a coroner's inquest, is said to have admitted the shooting and declared the trouble resulted from the woman's refusal to marry him. He had threatened her before and efforts had been made by Mrs. Bruton's parents to have him placed under a peace bond.

DEAD IN JAPANESE FLOOD PLACED AT 300

Tokyo, July 30.—(AP)—Prefectual authorities of Niigata province, on the opposite side of the island from Tokyo, estimate the dead and missing in the recent flood there at more than 300. Seven hundred and fifty houses were washed away and 8,000 were submerged. Several thousand acres of rice fields were destroyed.

VOTERS TO DECIDE MEANS OF FILLING CITY CLERK POST

Committee Votes, 21 to 18, To Submit Issue to Ballots in September Primary.

ACTION ONLY TAKEN AFTER HOT FIGHT

Attempt To Include All Department Heads Now Appointed, Defeated by Close Vote.

After a bitter fight the city democratic executive committee voted Thursday night by 21 to 18 to submit a referendum vote on the question of placing the office of city clerk on a popular election basis.

Not until after an amendment was submitted to the original resolution for placing the clerk's office on referendum and attempts to table both motions were made was the motion finally won. The amendment to the resolution was presented by Committeemen J. D. Jones and J. L. Peacock, and asked that all department heads, now on appointive basis, be placed on an elective basis.

This move was instituted immediately after the first resolution was presented to the body. The city officials named in this were the purchasing agent, superintendent of Grady hospital, chief of police, chief of the fire department, superintendent of Battle Hill sanitarium, inspector of weights and measures, chief of the sanitary department, superintendent of schools, superintendent of city stockades and three tax collectors.

Attacks Amendment.

On the attempt to place this amendment before the house, Committeeman C. L. Wood attacked the validity of the amendment, declaring that the call for the meeting mentioned nothing but the referendum for city clerk. He made no motion and no ruling was required.

Earl M. Carmain then took the floor and declared that the committee had no right to present either of the proposals to the people. He asked for continued peace and harmony in the committee and declared that the move to hold a referendum on the office of city clerk was "petty politics."

At this juncture a motion was made to adjourn the meeting which lost by 16 to 21.

Gag Motion Fails.

An attempt to bar Committeeman C. E. Martin from speaking was made by W. C. Wilkerson because Mr. Martin was in the employ of Walter C. Taylor, city clerk. Mr. Wilkerson's point of order was overruled by Chairman J. P. Wall. Mr. Martin declared that the attempt to hold a referendum on the city clerk's office was "slapping council directly in the face," since it was at the instigation of city council the office was taken off the elective basis.

Meeting in Turmoil.

A call for the question by W. J. Laney at this juncture plunged the meeting into a turmoil and Mr. Laney withdrew his call. After a number of other talks for and against the substitute resolution and the first resolution a vote on the substitute resolution lost by 21 to 18. A vote on the original resolution was then taken and it passed.

Barely a quorum attended the meeting, only 38 answering to the first roll call. According to precedent only a majority of votes is required to carry a motion when a quorum is present and Chairman Wall ruled the motion carried.

On Primary Ballots.

The referendum will be placed on the ballots at the city democratic primary September 22 and requires a majority before it becomes effective. If a majority vote to place the city clerk's office on an elective basis the vote will be certified and given to the Fulton county representatives. A bill to amend the city charter will then be presented to the state legislature at the next session. The bill must be carried in both houses before the measure becomes effective.

The move to hold a referendum on the clerk's office was begun some time ago by Committeeman Wilkerson on the ground that it had been taken away from the vote of the people by a "rider" to a bill in the state legislature.

PASTOR NORRIS TO GO ON TRIAL SEPTEMBER 13

Dr. J. Frank Norris, Fundamentalist Leader, Faces Trial for Slaying D. E. Chipps July 17.

JURY CAN RETURN THREE VERDICTS

Indictment Had Been Requested by Pastor, Who Is Expected To Plead Self-Defense.

Fort Worth, Texas, July 29.—(AP)—Trial of the Rev. Dr. J. Frank Norris, indicted for murder today in connection with the slaying of D. Elliott Chipps here July 17 last, probably will be set for September 13.

This became apparent late today when District Attorney R. K. Hanger said the trial would not be set before that date. No case of more importance is now on the calendar for the first regular term of criminal court, which opens the first Monday in September.

Norris' bond was allowed to stand at $10,000 and was signed today by 11 bondsmen, four of them attorneys, including Marvin B. Simpson, whom Norris announced today would head his counsel.

Under the revised Texas laws of 1913, Dr. Norris may expect one of three verdicts from a jury—acquittal, conviction of murder, or, if the issue is injected, of manslaughter. The minimum penalty for manslaughter is two years in the penitentiary. The maximum for murder is death in the electric chair. No suspended sentence may be given if a verdict of murder is returned.

The indictment, returned shortly before noon, was not unexpected and had been requested by Dr. Norris, although the latter had made objections to the personnel of the grand jury in a public statement issued from his office and it had been intimated that efforts would be made to quash the indictment if returned.

Although the district attorney's office refused to confirm the statement of Carl Glaze, 14, that he was the "mystery witness," no denial was issued. Existence of a missing witness was first announced by R. Donna Ridgway, husband of an employee of The Searchlight, organ of the First Baptist church.

He declared that while seated in an automobile in front of the church he saw Chipps apparently looking for someone and in the company of a "man" who later vanished.

About a week later it was announced by the district attorney's office that the missing witness had been located, but that he had not accompanied Chipps to the church and probably would be a state's witness. Glaze was not called before the grand jury.

Immediately after the slaying Dr. Norris was taken before the district attorney and made a lengthy statement in which he pleaded self-defense and alleged threats against his life by Chipps.

FOREIGN VOTERS SOLD FOR $6,000, WITNESS CHARGES

Amazing Story of Alleged Vote Buying in Illinois Primary Revealed To Senate Committee.

BY EARL J. JOHNSON.

Chicago, July 29.—Moving rapidly through a tangled undergrowth of huge expenditures and defiant witnesses, the senate "slush" committee has struck the trail of graft in the Illinois primary.

An amazing tale of alleged vote buying in the foreign wards of East St. Louis was given the committee today by Timothy McCarthy, a downstate newspaperman. It was enough to turn the inquiry into a new channel and from now on graft probably will replace campaign exposures as the principal quarry of the committee.

Scendry Sold Votes.

McCarthy told Senator James A. Reed, chairman of the committee, that Charles Scendry, secretary of the Foreign Voters' league of East St. Louis, had "sold" the votes of 125,000 southern Illinois foreigners to Colonel Frank L. Smith, republican senatorial nominee, for $6,000.

The alleged deal was made at a dinner party, McCarthy said, when was attended by Scendry, a man named Faulker, two Chicago attorneys, one named Ames and the other Schenderman, and himself.

"Ames openly said he wanted Scendry to support Smith against Senator

Will Adopt 'Self-Fining' System Here

Violators of Minor Traffic Rules May Remit Fines Without Trial.

Atlanta motorists who violate traffic rules and regulations may be given "cafeteria" service in the courts now soon.

This movement was initiated at a meeting of the ordinance committee Thursday afternoon and Councilman Horace Russell, chairman of the committee, will draft the new ordinance to be presented at the next meeting.

The Atlanta ordinance will be fashioned after one now being used successfully in Chicago. Chief provisions of the measure are that the violators of minor traffic rules will be given a copy of charges with a scale of fines on the back of the charges.

A duplicate copy will be given to the desk sergeant at police station and the officer making the case will keep a copy. If the motorist or violator wishes to stand court trial he may do so without waiving his privilege of paying the fine. In case of certain fractures of the law, such as reckless driving, driving while intoxicated and not stopping after an accident the defendant will be hailed into court without further argument.

It is believed that this will greatly speed up the work of the courts and also will save the officers making the cases much time from coming to court. Many violators are willing to pay their fine without standing trial rather than go to court.

A card index system also will be installed at the station to keep record of all infractions of the laws. In the case of second offenses fines are heavier, and grow still heavier on the third offense. After the third offense the violator is brought into court.

The proposal to put into effect such an ordinance in Atlanta was the outgrowth of an ordinance introduced by Councilman W. E. Saunders, providing that the violator could make a deposit as a cash bond and hold all deposits low enough to give the motorist an opportunity of forfeiting his bond.

Mr. Russell will confer with Mr. Saunders and members of the Atlanta Motor club before drafting the proposed ordinance. It is stated that the ordinance, if adopted, would facilitate the work of the courts and could be started at little cost.

Graphic Account of Loss Caused When Hurricane Hit Bahamas Given by A. P. Correspondent.

DAMAGE SUFFERED BY RUM RUNNERS

Sailors Escape by Narrow Margin — Nassau Bends Efforts Toward Saving Sponge Fleet.

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Nassau, Bahamas, July 29.—More than 150 persons were believed drowned, damage estimated conservatively at $8,000,000 was caused and more than 75 boats were sunk or destroyed between Monday night and Tuesday midnight in the most destructive hurricane recorded in Nassau and the Bahama islands.

Nassau bore the brunt of the damage in the storm which swept up out of the eastern end of the Caribbean sea, wreaking havoc through the entire British group, and leaving in its wake death and destruction.

With her families homeless in many instances, her beautiful drives littered with smashed glass and masses of debris, all public utilities paralyzed, Nassau abandoned all efforts for alleviating her own pitiful condition to dispatch any available craft in search of the picturesque sponge fleet, numbering between 150 and 200 small sloops and schooners, with the majority of the 150 persons missing. The line of boats filed out of Nassau Friday, heading for the famous sponge beds, lying aside the submerged banks off the western rim of Andros island, the largest isle of the Bahamas.

When the storm had abated early Wednesday morning three small fishing smacks were left in the harbor from an array that Sunday numbered approximately 60 craft, ranging from insignificant offshore sailboats to the 80-ton yacht Isoceles, said to be the Sir Thomas Lipton's famous American cup challenger, the Shamrock IV., which lies under 40 feet of water.

Outer Islands Suffer.

The outer islands of the group suffered greatly, the principal damage beyond Nassau and her island of New Providence being inflicted on the little island of Kun Key, 40 miles due east of Miami, where the eight large rum-running boats anchored in the nearby waters laden with an estimable cargo of liquor were hurled upon the beach and smashed to splinterwood. All sailors aboard the small boats rowed ashore at the first squall heralding the storm or were forced afterwards to swim ashore. None was reported lost.

Nassau, the capital and the largest populated city of the Bahamas, tonight had recovered only slightly from the shock. Business generally was suspended as anxious residents lined the docks and paced the main thoroughfares awaiting word from relatives in the outer islands or the appearance of an unaccounted-for boat.

The eastern corner of Nassau in the old Fort Montagu section was inundated with three to four feet of water resembling a mill race. Branches of giant trees blocked passage in many streets, vessels lay beached along the entire waterfront, and across the harbor at Hog Island many houses and smaller dwellings were in ruins.

Brisk winds early Sunday gave first evidence of the approaching hurricane after meager reports of its advance had been radioed from the tropical radio station near Miami. Throughout the day the wind mounted in velocity with a corresponding fall in the barometer. Shortly before midnight Sunday the gale whipped the island of New Providence, shattering numberless windows and uprooting bushes and smaller trees. Throughout the night the wind increased in fury, disrupting public utility service and plunged the city into darkness. At 6 o'clock Monday morning the hurricane reached its peak with a velocity of 130 miles an hour, according to the government record.

Waves Dash High.

The harbor was churned to a boiling rage and waves dashed high over the wharves to Bay street, almost a block within the city. The gale drove out of the northeast and meted out its potion of disaster. It was at this point that ships were sent high on the wharves, others were sunk, while several were known to have been blown out to sea.

Ship Arrives in Havana With Thrilling Story of Sea Fight — Georgia Storm Damage Is Small.

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.

With an unofficial estimate of 200 to 215 dead and more than $10,000,000 property damage attributed to its fury, the West Indian hurricane, which after lashing the east Florida coast for two days before it passed into Georgia, Thursday night had spent its strength and moved slowly westward with but a capful of wind and a misty rain remaining.

Weather bureau officials expected the storm to pass into Alabama during the night, where it would spend the last remnant of its strength in rains.

More than 150 persons were believed drowned and $8,000,000 damage caused when more than 75 boats belonging to the sponge fleet were sunk off the Bahama islands.

Fifty-four bodies washed ashore at Sanoa after sinking of the schooners Franciscimy, Peaceful and Nacoria off Sanoa Island, Santo Domingo; eight persons killed at Nassau and five others dead in Georgia and Florida was the storm toll in lives.

From $100,000 at Miami, $2,500,000 in the greater Palm Beach area, $250,000 to water-front property at Stuart, Fla., and other thousands of dollars in the Indian river section was its assessment of property loss on the mainland.

Two of the deaths attributed to the storm in Georgia and Florida were reported today. A boatman was crushed between his houseboat and a sea wall along the shore of Lake Worth, near Palm Beach, and a railroad president in south Georgia was killed when his locomotive went into a ditch from rails undermined by rains and high water.

The storm passed up through southern Georgia today, passing Macon, diminishing in intensity and accompanied by rain.

Linemen Go to Work.

Charleston, Savannah and Brunswick, the former but lightly touched by the hurricane, were resuming normal activities and throughout the eastern peninsular section linemen were busy in repairing the damage wrought to Florida lines of communication.

16 INJURED PERSONS ARE ABOARD ORIZABA.

Havana, Cuba, July 29.—(AP)—The Ward line steamer Orizaba from New York limped into port tonight with sixteen injured persons aboard and her railings and superstructure damaged. The damage was received while the steamer was battling with

The satisfaction of knowing that your eyesight is normal is alone worth the few minutes time required for an examinational test.

Of greater value to you, is the opportunity to arrest in time by properly fitted glasses a defect that might show up.

A nominal fee of 10 cents will be charged to cover expenses. This is the only charge made and covers admission to everything in the big auditorium and its annex, Taft hall.

The exposition is expected to draw thousands of visitors both from Atlanta and the southeast. It will be held at the same time that the annual "Merchants' week" is in session in Atlanta and visiting merchants will be honor guests at the show.

MAYSON CONFIDENT ATTACK ON BONDS WILL BE FAILURE

The suit filed Wednesday in United States district court to restrain the sale of municipal bonds for the building of viaducts at Central avenue and Pryor street, contains nothing sufficien to warrant voiding of the bond issue, City Attorney James L. Mayson declared Thursday.

The attorney refused to go into detailed discussion of the case with the hearing scheduled for today before Judge Samuel H. Sibley, but declared that he believed the city could win.

"This suit," said Mr. Mayson, "is aimed at the viaduct bonds, but it is my opinion that it contains nothing that would warrant the voiding of the bond issue. I am confident that the city will win eventually."

The suit was filed Wednesday by the law firm of Spence & Spence in behalf of Thomas B. Brady, former Atlanta man, who now is said to reside in Los Angeles, Cal. It is alleged that certain properties owned by Mr. Brady in the vicinity of the viaducts will be virtually destroyed in value by the erection of the viaducts.

RADIO HEAD WANTS COPY OF OLD SONG

Has anyone a copy of "Lorena," an old Confederate song, which was popular in wartime during the War Between the States?

John M. Stahl, president of the Allied Arts association, of Chicago, in a letter to The Constitution, wishes a copy of Lorena, to be sung over the radio some night along with other southern songs as a feature of an eight months' literary program for a prominent radio broadcasting station.

Mr. Stahl states that a copy of Lorena printed on coarse unsized paper during the time when Sherman besieged Atlanta was sent to him by a prominent Georgia woman more than 40 years ago because of his attitude toward the new south, as it was called, in the late seventies and early eighties.

It is said his concerns produced more than one-half the printing materials used in the United States.

FAIR WEATHER SEEN FOR TODAY

With a toll of 150 lives lost and leaving in its wake property damages estimated at between $6,000,000 and $8,000,000, the West Indian hurricane which started on its perilous journey of destruction last Saturday on the small island of Turks, has lost practically all o fits velocity and has gradually dwindled into a heavy, misty rain, according to the local office of the United States bureau, late Thursday afternoon.

The crest of the hurricane and rainstorm passed over the east coast of Georgia during the night Wednesday and early Thursday morning the storm had turned its course westward through the center of the state and was almost diminished late Thursday afternoon and only heavy rainfall was reported Thursday night.

Rains are expected to continue during the early hours of Friday morning with a clearing of skies, accompanied by much warmer temperatures in this section of the state. C. von Herrmann, local meteorologist, stated Thursday night. Temperatures today are expected to range from 68 to 82.

Thursday's temperatures ranged from 72 to 73 negrees, and rainfall during the past 48 hours was reported at 1.56 inches.

According to reports filed with the local weather bureau the West Indian hurricane was first evidenced last Saturday off the coast of the island of Turks in the Bahama islands.

Starting as a wild gale, the hurricane gradually picked up in velocity and began a path of destruction which spread from the lower end of Florida through the middle of Georgia.

The course of the hurricane ranged northwestward until it reached the east Florida coast. It then turned due north and traveled more than 200 miles before turning westward at Brunswick.

Traveling westward through middle Georgia, the hurricane soon lost practically all of its velocity and destructive power and Thursday morning Atlantans were experiencing real fall weather as the storm was slowly diminishing, with very little damage being reported.

Accompanied by an 80-mile-an-hour wind, the highest velocity reported during the past 72 hours, the storm reached its maximum width of approximately 200 miles early Wednesday night, when the majority of the destruction in Brunswick, St. Simons and other Georgia seaport towns reported the greatest property damage.

According to reports at the local weather bureau, Savannah was in the edge of the storm and very little damage, except loss of property due to heavy rainfall, was reported. Tybee experienced the highest tidal wave in many years Wednesday, due to a hard rainstorm.

Avoid Poorly Balanced Breakfasts

Start the day with Quaker Oats—food that "stands by" you.

If you feel tired, hungry, "fidgety," hours before lunch, don't jump to the conclusion of poor health. Thousands have unenergetic mornings because they start the day with wrong breakfasts.

To feel right, you must have a well-balanced, complete breakfast ration. At most other meals—lunch and dinner—you get it. But breakfast is a hurried meal, often badly chosen.

Thus Quaker Oats, containing 16% protein, food's great tissue builder, 58% carbohydrate, its great energy element, plus all-important vitamines and the "bulk" that makes laxatives seldom needed, is the dietetic urge of the world today.

Don't deny yourself the natural stimulation this rich food offers you.

Get Quaker Oats today. Grocers have two kinds: Quick Quaker, which cooks in 3 to 5 minutes, and Quaker Oats.

BABY IS BORN AS MOTHER NEARS SHORES OF U. S.

(By Leased Wire to The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)

New York, July 29.—This is the story of an American girl who wanted to be married on American soil and failed. Then she wanted her baby to be born on American territory, and again she failed—by a few hours.

The infant was born on shipboard, instead of on land, and according to immigration authorities that makes her a citizen of her father's country—Rumania.

The unusual situation was disclosed today with the arrival of the steamer Vestris. The newest passenger was Catherine Vestris Pfpernek, born at Quarantine ten minutes after midnight.

Her mother, Mrs. Wilhelm Pfpernek, was Catherine Pullgar, of Allentown, Pa., who fell in love with her husband while she was traveling in Rumania several years ago.

COOLIDGE IS SEEN IN CANDIDATE ROLE

Paul Smith's, N. Y., July 29.—(AP) An optimistic report on political conditions was given President Coolidge today by Richard Washburn Child, former ambassador to Italy, who said the congressional election campaign was shaping up favorably for the administration.

Discussing conditions later with newspaper correspondents, Mr. Child, who had been a guest at White Pine camp since Tuesday, said in response to questions that there seemed to be a general assumption in the country that Mr. Coolidge would be a candidate to succeed himself in 1928.

Things are going pretty well, he declared, adding that in his opinion the president was personally responsible for the economy program of the federal government and also for Washington not becoming a bureaucratic center.

Conservative Republican.

Mr. Coolidge, he emphasized in the latter connection, is a conservative republican who is more for decentralization of the national government than an old-line Jeffersonian democrat.

Before leaving this afternoon for New York Mr. Child discussed foreign as well as domestic conditions with the president without, however, the latter's views being revealed on any point.

Before he left, Frank W. Stearns, personal friend of Mr. Coolidge, arrived at the summer white house for an indefinite stay, while Representative Snell, of Potsdam, N. Y., chairman of the house rules committee and a republican leader with whom the president frequently confers on legislative matters in Washington, stopped at the executive offices to pay his respects.

Situation Normal.

The political situation, Mr. Child said at his press conference, is normal for this season in an off-year election, its present phase being largely local with candidates standing for nomination on primarily sectional issues. This often gives the appearance, he added, of both major parties being split up, but is without significance as to what will take place in the election campaign proper.

As for the views of agricultural states, Mr. Child said a survey from all sides had convinced him that the move from farm relief through "price stabilization and government subsidy" by legislation was much less deep than some supposed. The "professional farmer," he added, may be concerned, but the "farmer himself" is not at all excited.

President Coolidge today completed a radio speech he is to deliver from here next Tuesday afternoon for broadcasting at exercises in Denver commemorating the semi-centennial of the admission of Colorado to the union. The president found time in the early morning to go on Lake Osgood with Mr. Child and catch a mess of perch.

COOLIDGE FISHES AS DINNER WAITS

Paul Smith's, N. Y., July 29.—(AP)—A domestic tragedy, common to a million homes, was staged at the summer white house tonight. Mrs. Coolidge was forced to wait dinner one hour while the president wound up his day's fishing with a second trip to Follensby's, Jr., pond. If the potatoes were soggy and steak overdone when Mr. Coolidge returned after dark and long past the time set for dinner, he probably omitted comment—for his creel was jammed with fine brook trout.

FARM PRICES CUT FOUR PER CENT IN ONE MONTH

Washington, July 29.—(AP)—A drop in the general level of farm prices from 139 to 135 per cent of the prewar level from June 15 to July 15 was reported today by the agriculture department, which said the July level was 14 points below that for July last year.

The price level of grains as a group declined 5 points during the month; cotton 6 points; meat animals 2 points, and fruits and vegetables 21 points, while dairy and poultry products and unclassified commodities remained about constant.

During the month the farm prices of cotton, cottonseed, oats, wheat and potatoes declined slightly, while corn, barley, rye and flaxseed increased. There was a decline also in livestock and livestock prices, with the exception of milk cows and wool, which remained about stationary.

NEW BIRDS ADDED TO STATE COLLECTION

A substantial addition of stuffed Georgia birds was added to the collection in the halls of the state capitol, put there by the department of game and fish, this week by L. M. Taylor, of Alpharetta, and D. V. Hembree of Roswell. The birds were mounted on limbs and posts in their natural position, and state house officials commented on their life-like appearance.

Each year more and more birds are added to the state's collection until now practically every type of bird native to or adopted by Georgia is represented.

Messrs. Taylor and Hembree, besides having done considerable work for Georgia in their line of bird suffing and mounting, have sent shipments to museums in Massachusetts, Washington, Illinois and other states.

The birds placed in the Georgia capitol this week included one each of the following: Indigo bunting, brown creeper, white-breasted nut hatcher, winter wren, red bird, bull bat, night hawk, blue warblers; gray squirrel, black squirrel, cinnamon teal and Florida bob white.

COURT REJECTS DOTY'S APPEAL

Beirut, Syria, July 29.—(AP)—The appeal of Bennet J. Doty, of Memphis, Tenn., from a sentence of eight years' imprisonment at hard labor for desertion from the French Foreign Legion today was rejected unanimously by a higher military court.

The court made no recommendation for clemency and it does not appear likely that any will be made at this time.

Bennet J. Doty, who enlisted in the French Foreign Legion as "Gilbert Clare," is the son of Lemuel H. Doty, a Memphis attorney, and is a veteran of the world war. He left his company in southern Syria while on active duty against the dissident Druses, and later was imprisoned in Damascus.

During his trial several weeks ago the prosecuting officer demanded the death penalty, but Doty's defending officer made a plea for clemency because of the American's brilliant record previous to his desertion.

GEORGIA PRODUCTS TO BE FEATURED ON HOTEL MENUS

Georgia melons, peaches and garden products will be featured on hundreds of hotel and restaurant menus during August, according to plans perfected at a meeting Thursday of officials of the Georgia Hotel Men's association.

The Atlanta Hotel Men's association, of which W. C. Royer, of the Atlanta Biltmore, is president, has pledged cooperation with the state body headed by Frank T. Reynolds, of the Ansley hotel. The membership of both organizations will be notified and asked to carry out the plan.

By this means it is hoped to introduce visitors from afar to the real quality of Georgia products, according to Mr. Reynolds.

Retired Army Chaplain Assigned to American Rescue Mission Here

Dr. William Thomas Ryan, retired government chaplain and a minister of many years experience in the north and east, has been assigned to take charge of the Atlanta headquarters of the Amercian Rescue mission at 394 Piedmont avenue.

Dr. Ryan comes to Atlanta from Trenton, N. J., where for years he was a leader in religious and fraternal affairs. He served as army chaplain during the war and was gassed. He is a patriotic lecturer, having recently addressed a statewide meeting of Pythians in his home city. In 1922 he addressed 5,000 members of the Atlantic fleet at the request of the commander.

He announced Thursday he would organize a local advisory board for the mission within a few days. A total of 28 women and children are being cared for by the institution at present.

Dinner-Dance Postponed.

A dinner-dance scheduled to be given by the City Salesmen's association Friday night at Glen Echo springs has been postponed on account of the weather. Announcement of a new date for the event will be made later.

Holder Declared For Road Bonds, States Carswell

Fort Valley, Ga., July 29.—(Special.)—George H. Carswell, candidate for governor, made two addresses in Peach county today, the first one at Byron at 11 o'clock and at the county courthouse in Fort Valley at 1 o'clock in the afternoon, leaving immediately after his address for Perry, where he also spoke.

Practically the entire populace of Byron heard his speech and he was given a cordial reception.

Despite the very inclement weather and the fact that all places of business are closed here on Thursday afternoons, an unusually large crowd was present, and gave earnest attention and by the frequent and hearty applause indicated a belief in keeping with his pronouncements.

Mr. Carswell said he would not engage in personalities, but would criticize the public record and position of Mr. Holder, who he said he considered his only real opponent. He paid high tribute to the worth of Dr. Hardman, but said he was not in the race and made no reference whatever to Candidate Wood.

He said that Mr. Holder was misleading the people of Georgia as to the increase in state road mileage, leading them to believe that there was some 800 miles to be added to the present system while as a matter of fact there was only 51 miles. He said that Holder was using his present office to boost himself into the governor's chair and that if elected would name some political friend as chairman of the highway board and thus continue the Holder political machine, which, he said, was a menace to the progress of the state.

He said "the Brown political machine is nothing compared with the recklessness of the Holder crowd." He condemned the present method of using the gasoline and tag tax and suggested certain changes, and stated that Holder had only paved 400 miles in four years and that at that rate it would be an intolerable length of time before Georgians would get any real benefit from the enormous amount being paid as special taxes for this special purpose.

Mr. Carswell stated that about a year ago Mr. Holder made public declaration on the roof garden of the Ansley hotel "that the only way Georgia would secure paved highways was by the issuance of $70,000,000 in bonds, and that for political expediency and yielding to the orders of Hardwick, he was now opposing bonds."

The speaker stated that a governor should not use the power of his office to whip the legislature into voting for any of his pet measures but should leave the members free to use their own judgment; that the governor did not have as much say in the issuance of bonds as the legislator in the smallest county in the state; that he could not even veto a bill providing for the issuance of bonds and that the people themselves had the final say.

He closed his speech by declaring that he stood first for the better education of the children, the paving of the roads for Georgians and not for tourists, and for their early paving and for a complete reorganization of the state highway department from top to bottom.

CARSWELL SPEAKS TO PERRY AUDIENCE.

Perry, Ga., July 29.—(Special.)—George H. Carswell, candidate for governor, addressed a large crowd in the courthouse here this afternoon and discussed the issues of the race.

He attacked the operation of the state highway department as operated by "John N. Holder and his co-partner, J. J. Brown, which two bodies have been ruling Georgia for years."

He said he stood for the betterment of the school system of the state and for a system of paved roads from county site to county site, and stated he favored wiping out the "political machines in Georgia used by office-seekers in the interest of their advancement in political office. He spoke in favor of a reorganization of the highway and agricultural departments.

90 SOUGHT IN SALE OF POISONED LIQUOR

Buffalo, N. Y., July 29.—(AP)—Warrants were being served here and in Niagara Falls late today on approximately 90 persons indicted by the federal grand jury at Jamestown in connection with an alleged widespread conspiracy to divert and sell alcohol.

Twenty-three persons are charged with conspiracy to violate the prohibition laws, while the others are charged with smuggling alcohol into Canada.

WIDOWS' CLUB FORMED

Widowers Invited To Meet Members.

Cleveland, Ohio, July 29.—(AP)—Mrs. Nelle B. Stull, of Elyria, Ohio, president and organizer of the International Widows and Widowers' club, here yesterday for an executive committee meeting, proposed an international convention of the organization.

"Why not?" she asked. "Our 1,500 members have been corresponding. Wouldn't it be nice if they could meet?"

The club members, ranging in age from 18 to 80 years, reside in five countries, Mrs. Stull said she could not tell how many would attend a convention. "The men are so selfish and think only of themselves," she said. The convention would be held here or at Columbus, Ohio. The executive committee has taken no action. Mrs. Stull organized the club four years ago to help Elyria's widows. The idea grew as widows and widowers corresponded until it reached an international scope.

The Fable of the Squirrel and the Nut

VIRGINIA is the daughter of a Friend of Fulton. She is three years old, and has invented the following fable, which has significance for all of us:

"This is the story of a Squirrel an' a Nut," begins Virginia. "There was once a squirrel, an' he save food for the Winter in a hollow twee. An' a Winter come an' he eat all Winter."

"But, Virginia," you are supposed to ask at this point, "What is the moral? And where does the Nut come in?"

To which she will reply—"Ev'ybody should ought to save for a Winter, an' anyone which don't is a Nut."

The gale of laughter which follows this is somehow always followed by a pause of serious thought—which Virginia can't understand.

Let us hope that none of our children need understand before their time the real moral of Virginia's fable. A savings account, so easily started and maintained at the Friendly Bank, will insure against such a possibility.

Charge Manipulation Of Accounts to White

Former Provision Company Head Overdrew Salary, Prosecution Witnesses Testify.

Claiming that W. H. White, Jr., on trial in Fulton superior court for embezbaling funds of the White Provision company, of which he was president, made withdrawals amounting to $682,610.29 during the years from 1911 to 1925 against his gross salary of $163,800, the prosecution Thursday introduced evidence to show that White manipulated accounts to balanace his personal indebtedness and overdrafts.

Testimony to show such manipulation was brought out by Assistant Solicitor General Ed. A. Stephens, while William Burckel, secretary-treasurer and comptroller of the White Provision company since December 10, 1925, was on the stand Thursday.

On July 31, 1919, it was charged by the state, White, without payment and without the authority of the board of directors of the provision company, credited his account with $22,940 and charged it to another account on the company's books in the nature of a surplus account.

Involved Accounts.

The White Feeding company, which was W. H. White, Jr according to previous evidence, was credited on May 29, 1922, with $34,720, the sum being charged to plant operating accounts. At the end of December, 1924, White credited his salary account with $21,500 and charged it to another of his accounts, according to testimony Thursday.

In the early part of January, 1925, officers' salary accounts of the White Provision company, it was stated, were "closed out" by a journal entry, charging the entire amount for $30,672.49 to the Citizens and Southern bank, although no money was paid. The state contended that $27,509.52 of this amount was for White's personal account.

At the recess of court at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon testimony of Mr. Burckel had not been completed. Assistant Solicitor Stephens announced that Friday he would show "juggling" by Mr. White of other accounts.

Secretary Testifies.

Miss Martha B. Dickinson, Mr. White's private secretary during his presidency at the White Provision company, was the first witness Thursday, her testimony of Monday afternoon and Tuesday not having been completed. Canceled checks to indicate that White had paid sums totaling more than $225,000 to the company from 1915 to 1925 were identified by Miss Dickinson on cross-examination by Attorney Ben Conyers, chief counsel of defense, in an effort to counteract the claims of the state that White had drawn large sums of money from the company without repayment.

A number of the checks were drawn on the account of the White Feeding company, which was operated by Mr. White to acquire cattle and hogs. The state Wednesday presented testimony in an effort to show that Mr. White purchased cattle and hogs which were billed to the White Provision company and that White rebilled them to the White Provision company from the White Feeding company at a profit.

Cattle Resale.

One of the instances cited in connection with the alleged White "resale plan" was that 31 head of cattle were billed to the White Provision company, which was to pay freight charges, weighing 29,760 pounds for $1,388.89 on October 21, 1925. When the cattle were reweighed, according to the receiving ticket, the cattle weighed 27,400 which indicated a shrinkage in weight. The bill showed that the cattle was sold at prices ranging from 4 to 5 cents per pound.

On October 24, Mr. White's stenographer, according to testimony, rebilled the cattle to the White Provision company at 5 1-2 cents per pound, the total amount being $1,517.76. Weight indicated on the second bill was 29,760 pounds, the original weight of the shipment.

According to testimony the freight on the shipment of cattle and hogs was paid by the White Provision company and charged to White Feeding company, which paid only a small amount on the freight.

The defense answered the allegations in cross-examination of Miss Dickinson when they attempted to show that this was a normal and recognized means of acquiring cattle and that the apparent profit on the rebilling represented freight charges, handling charges, losses and shrinkages.

Identifies Checks.

Miss Dickinson identified numerous checks which were presented her by defense attorneys in cross-examination and upon agreement it was decided to submit the others held by the defense counsel to inspection by the opposing counsel.

"When an employee of the company was ill or in bad luck, couldn't he, or she, as the case might be, get a personal advance from Mr. White?" Attorney Conyers queried Miss Dickinson.

"That happened in some cases I know about," was the secretary's reply.

"I don't know. I think it was a personal loan or advance by Mr. White," Miss Dickinson said.

Apparently the defense was attempting to prove that employee advances were responsible in a small way for alleged overdrafts by Mr. White and that the packing house president attempted in every way to develop the spirit of his employees and build up the provision company.

Expert On Stand.

Mr. Burckel, introduced by the state as an expert witness in accounting, has served as secretary of the Mexican National railroad and in various capacities with the Trust Company of Georgia, in addition to other financial interests, it was brought out.

Mr. Stephens questioned him at length about the methods of bookkeeping of the White Provision company. Mr. White's salary account was kept in the salary ledger and other accounts in other ledgers, according to Mr. Burckel's testimony.

Salary Overdrafts.

Every year since 1911, the books have shown an overdraft in Mr. White's salary account, with the exception of 1920, Mr. Burckel testified.

"At the close of the year 1925, Mr. White was indebted on salary account to a sum of $155,775.12, with a credit of $20,000 for the year's salary," Mr. Burckel said.

The overdraft for 1924 was $27,509; in 1923, $59,999.79; in 1922, $71,149.88; in 1921, $41,216.76. At the close of 1920 the books showed his account balanced. "In the latter part of 1920 he had an overdraft. This was balanced early in January of 1921," the accountant said.

"The first year I found an overdraft in this account upon investigation was 1911. Except 1920 no year failed to show an overdraft," Mr. Burckel concluded.

No Afternoon Sessions.

Judge Robert N. Hardeman, of Louisville, who is presiding at the trial in absence of Fulton county jurists on vacations, has announced that there will be no afternoon sessions of court at present and that he will call a recess at 2 o'clock daily. There will be no court Saturday, it is stated.

Assisting Assistant Solicitor Ed Stephens in the prosecution of the case for the state is Assistant Solicitor General John H. Hudson. Solicitor General John H. Boykin, who has been ruled ineligible due to the fact that he is a stockholder in the provision company, may be seen sitting at the prosecuting table. Mr. Burckel is also sitting at the state table.

The defense counsel includes Attorneys Ben J. Conyers, Paul S. Etheridge, William Schley Howard and James A. Branch.

The trial is expected to continue over a period of approximately a week and a half, it is stated.

CANTON MURDER SUSPECT JAILED

Canton, Ohio, July 29.—(AP)—Detective Ora Slater, who heads the investigation here into the murder of Don B. Mellett, publisher of The Canton News, went to Youngstown this afternoon with a mysterious witness to confront Mike Contos, held there in connection with the investigation.

Slater acted on information sent Prosecutor C. M. McClintock by Detective Peter Connors, Pittsburgh, that Contos and George Psilias known as "George the Greek," have been identified by John Ritz, Somerset, Pa., miner, as the two men who urged him and another man to do "a job" in Canton about the time of the Mellett murder. The two men were promised $1,500 for the "job" Ritz told Connors, according to the telegram to the prosecutor.

After the unidentified Canton witness has seen Contos, Slater may go on to Pittsburgh he said.

Psilias again has given himself up to the police in Pittsburgh, declaring he is being "framed" in the murder investigation and that he is not safe outside the jail. A Canton witness failed to identify him a week ago as a man seen near the Mellett home shortly before the murder.

The services of Joseph Roach, Chicago criminal lawyer, have been sought in an effort to uncover the murderers and to drive out commercialized vice here. Roach had a record of having "cleaned up" situations somewhat similar in Terre Haute and Indianapolis, the investigators said.

SUSPENSION GIVEN TO AUDREY BOYLES

Mobile, Ala., July 29.—(AP)—Aubrey Boyles, former United States attorney, was suspended from federal court practice for two years by Federal Judge William I. Grubb this afternoon at the close of the hearing on a disbarment citation issued to Boyles by Judge Robert T. Ervin, of the southern district of Alabama.

Boyles will have to pay the costs of the hearing, according to the ruling.

Judge Grubb's preliminary remarks indicated his decision was based considerably on evidence relating to what he considered amounted to Boyles aiding Harry G. French to commit a fraud against John H. McEvoy several years ago, while French was acting as a government informer against alleged bootleggers and reporting to Boyles.

Judge Grubb referred to Boyles' statements concerning Judge Ervin at a conference with the attorney general in Washington, but in view of Boyles' attitude on the subject ruled there was not sufficient ground for disbarment but for discipline.

Judge Grubb, federal judge for the northern district of Alabama, came here to preside at the trial. Judge Ervin's citation to Boyles to show cause why he should not be disbarred from practice in the United States court followed the failure of the senate a number of weeks ago to confirm the president's nomination of Boyles for a second term.

THIRD FORTUNE WON BY DURANT IN STREET

New York, July 29.—(AP)—The fortune that William C. Durant has accumulated through stock market operations was increased another $1,500,000 today, The New York World will say tomorrow, through the 12-point rise of General Motors stock to a record high of $191 a share. He has made in the neighborhood of $20,000,000 in this one stock during the last year, The World will say.

Mr. Durant founded General Motors, made his first fortune out of it, and was deposed from the presidency of the concern in 1910. A second fortune, estimated at $100,000,000, came to him largely through dealings in stocks between 1910 and 1920, when he lost heavily during the post-war depression.

His present fortune, the third he has won on the street, now is estimated to be as large as his former ones. The greater portion of it was accumulated from the rise of General Motors, which began in 1925 when Mr. Durant is believed to have taken profits of $12,000,000.

He is thought to have cleared nearly $9,000,000 from the present rise before the 12-point jump today.

GeorgiaPeach Scores a Hit With British

Washington, July 29.—(AP)—Georgia peaches have made a hit on the British market.

An experimental carload consignment, landed in Liverpool in 14 days from Macon, was snapped up at good prices, American Agricultural Commissioner Foley reported today to the department of agriculture. He believes the British market offers opportunities for the fruit if packed with sufficient care to insure delivery in good condition.

The first carload started from Macon July 5, packed in various ways. The six-basket-crate method of packing carried best. The fruit was delivered in splendid condition and prices ranged from $3.89 to $4.14 a crate. A second carload, also shipped by rail to New York and thence by steamer to Liverpool, arrived in good condition and brought even better prices than the first.

Commissioner Foley reported the British prefer a white-fleshed peach. The British con[illegible] a large quantity of south African peaches, which reach that market during the winter months.

G. S. & G. PROPERTY ASSESSED AT $281.932

Property of the Georgia, Southwestern & Gulf railroad, which runs between Albany and Cordele, has been assessed by Comptroller General W. A. Wright at $281,932. This figure, which was $42,400 in excess o fthe amount returned by the company, has not been questioned, and the 20-day period allowed by law having elapsed, the assessment holds, Comptroller General Wright said.

The company returned $6,400 for real property in Albany, which the comptroller general, basing his action on the tax returns of Albany, changed to $46,000. There was no return for personal property and the comptroller general fixed that at $2,800, he said.

PLOT AGAINST KING OF HEDJAZ DISCOVERED

FRENCH FINANCIAL BILL IS APPROVED

Paris, July 29.—(AP)—Premier Poincare's bill providing measures designed to put the country on a sound financial and economic basis, was approved by the finance committee of the chamber of deputies today, 19 votes to 13, with one abstention.

The committee now will recommend favorable action on the bill by parliament and discussion of it by the chamber will begin Saturday. Against the determined opposition of the premier, some minor amendments to the measures were made, but political circles and all parties are reconciled that the bill as a whole will be passed by the deputies with a comfortable majority.

The finanace committee departed from the stringent policy of economy inaugurated with the advent of the Poincare government by voting an increase in the annual salaries of deputies. A clause making the salaries 45,000 frances ($1,125) instead of 27,000 frances ($675) was incorporated in the bill. This was not opposed by M. Poincare, who feels that such an increase is warranted by the drop in the value of the currency and the increased cost of living.

POLICE CHIEF BEAVERS WILL RESUME DUTIES

"Acting" as an official title at police station will sink into innocuous desuetude Monday when Police Chief James L. Beavers will assume the reins at police station again and Assistant Police Chief Charles P. Connally resumes control over the station house for the evening and night.

Chief Beavers, who has been enjoying a vacation and a leave of absence, Thursday stated he was feeling in fine shape for assuming the trying duties attached to his position.

Chief Connally, who has been confined to his home since he was hurt several weeks ago in a collision between his automobile and a dairy truck, has been able to be about some during the last ten days and said he probably would have gained sufficient strength to "report with the chief."

TWO TAMPA MEN GUILTY OF MURDER

The jury was out nearly two hours.

Naples, July 29.—(AP)—Vesuvius has renewed its activity, but expert volcanologists say there is no danger of a disastrous eruption. The activity within the cone was becoming more intense today, and there were constant deep rumblings.

FOREIGN VOTERS SOLD FOR $6,000

William B. McKinley for the nomination," McCarthy said. "Scendry balked because he was a democrat but said he could do it for $6,000.

Smith Indorsed.

"The next day he came into our newspaper office and announced the Foreign Voters' league had indorsed Smith. He had said at dinner the night before that the money would have to be given to leaders of seven different nationalities in the district."

Earlier in the afternoon session Reed had called Thomas W. Cunningham, Philadelphia court clerk, who could not be found when the committee was investigating the Pennsylvania primary in Washington.

Cunningham admitted giving $50,000 to the Vare campaign but refused, on advice of counsel, to tell where he got the money. After almost an hour of bickering with the witness, Senator Reed announced he would be cited for contempt of the senate. Cunningham insisted the money was his own and that how he saved it out of a salary of $8,000 a year was none of the committee's business.

Serves as Warning.

Reed's severe treatment of the Pennsylvania witness is expected to serve as a warning to Samuel Insull, the utilities magnate; Edward H. Wright, the negro states utilities commissioner, and Allen Moore, Smith's manager, who have refused to answer certain questions about their expenditures. Both Insull and Wright are to be recalled later and Reed predicts that they will now be willing to tell him what he wants to know.

The East St. Louis newspaperman's testimony about graft was the sensation of the day. Senator Reed evinced a lively interest in McCarthy's story and took the names of witnesses mentioned so that they may be summoned to testify.

"Did this man Scendry ever tell you he got the money?" Reed asked.

"No, he didn't tell me," said McCarthy, "but he showed me $2,800 in cash the next morning. He just smiled and said: 'We're indorsed Smith'."

State's Attorney Robert E. Crowe, and Charles Barrett, heads of the Crowe-Barrett republican organization in Cook county, were the only other important witnesses of the day. Barrett already has testified that his group spent $175,000. Today's questioning failed to raise that figure. The total known expenditures in the senatorial primary now stands at nearly $1,000,000 with all except $20,000 used in the republican contest between McKinley and Smith. The $20,000 was spent in landing the democratic senatorial candidacy for George E. Brennan.

Colonel Smith W. Brookhart, of Iowa, strolled into the committee room during the day. When Reed saw him among the spectators he called him to the witness chair.

Brookhart defeated Senator A. B. Cummins for the republican nomination in Iowa and Reed took advantage of his presence to learn how the "slush" in Iowa compared to the "slush" in Illinois and Pennsylvania.

"My entire organization spent about $6,000," Brookhart said.

"You don't seem to have spent much money," Reed commented.

"You don't have to when you stand for something," Brookhart said.

Allen Moore, Colonel Smith's campaign manager, who declined to give the names of all contributors, is to be recalled at the opening of Friday's session. He has been consulting with his attorneys on whether the committee has authority to force him to disclose this information.

SLIPPERY PAVEMENT RESULTS IN INJURY

E. P. Cromartie, 28, of Mathewson place, was injured Thursday night when the automobile he was driving crashed into the rear end of an outbound trolley car in front of 1065 Gordon street.

He was taken to Grady hospital suffering from a wound about the right side, a broken rib and other injuries. He told attending physicians he was riding behind the trolley, which stopped suddenly. The pavement being wet the motor car skidded when he applied brakes, he said.

Many to Begin Training at the Southern Business College During the Month of August

Business Firms Calling For the Southern's Graduates Daily.

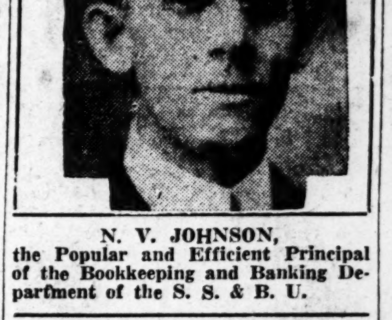
Positions—good positions, lasting positions, positions that lead to independence—are always open to the graduates of the Southern Shorthand and Business University.

Although July is about the dullest month of the year, some 20 or more of the Southern students have gone to positions with prominent firms of this city and elsewhere.

The most important thing about getting a Business Education is to get it at the right time.

There never was a better time than now, and a large number of young people, realizing this, are sending in their applications to the Southern Business College for entrance on August 2nd and 9th.

Young Coleman, who came from his home in Providence, R. I., to locate in the "Gate City of the South," walked the streets for three long months seeking a position, but failed to find one because he was unprepared for clerical work, so he then enrolled at the Southern for its practical Business Training, and within a comparatively short time he became equipped to hold a responsible position and the management of the school immediately placed him with a large railroad corporation at a good beginning salary.



N. V. JOHNSON, the Popular and Efficient Principal of the Bookkeeping and Banking Department of the S. S. & B. U.

A graduate of the Southern, after 10 years' experience in business, says:

"If you are willing to be satisfied all your life with a little job, you need spend no money getting ready for it; but if you want a big job, you will have to be trained in business, and the Southern Business College is the place for such a training."

LAWRENCEVILLE MEN HURT IN ACCIDENT

Lawrenceville, Ga., July 29.—(Special.)—A small touring car left the road three miles west of Lawrenceville on the Atlanta highway last night about 10 o'clock, injuring the occupants, O. F. Norton, E. A. Melton and J. M. Hewatt. It is said that the car turned over and pinned Mr. Melton under it. All of the parties live in Lawrenceville and were given medical attention shortly after the accident.

A large sedan, said to have been occupied by two women and two men from Atlanta, turned over several times Sunday afternoon two miles north of Lawrenceville on the Buford highway and was completely destroyed by fire. The occupants were slightly injured in the smashup.

It is said that the car was going at a rapid rate of speed. The names of the parties could not be obtained, but they went back to Atlanta soon after the accident.

THE DEMOCRATIC RULES.

The statement issued by John W. Davis, democratic candidate for president in 1924, that he will urge the democratic convention in 1928 to abrogate both its two-thirds and unit rules, as now obtain, will necessarily have weight on a question that is now being widely discussed by party leaders and the press.

The public should not get Mr. Davis' position wrong. There is an agitation on the part of one group in the party to abrogate the two-thirds rule only, leaving the unit rule to bind the vote of state delegations.

If the two-thirds rule is abrogated then by all means, as Mr. Davis suggests, the unit rule should also be abrogated. This would leave it so that a majority of the accredited delegates on the floor of the convention could make a nomination. This would be fair and democratic.

But to adopt a majority rule for the nomination, leaving the unit rule in force, would be to give every advantage to political pre-convention candidates manipulations of a disastrous nature.

Either the two rules should go together or stay on together.

Mr. Davis is the titular head of his party and will remain so until the next convention nomination is made. He will, therefore, be in position to carry his rule fight with force to the floor of the convention.

WIDEN WHITEHALL.

The widening and extension of Madison avenue from the Terminal plaza to Whitehall street has been completed.

What was a year ago an alley is now an 80-foot concrete boulevard.

It supplies the needed link that make of Spring street, Madison avenut and Whitehall street one continuous cross-town thoroughfare with approaches into the various streets and suburban highways that radiate in every direction.

It is the most important development of the kind since the widening and paving of Spring street and the building of the Spring street viaduct.

The flood of traffic that is funneled into Whitehall street at the junction where Forsyth street and Madison avenue merge into Whitehall, however, demands now that Whitehall street be widened from that point of juncture west to the railroad crossing at Lee street.

Whitehall is now 60 feet wide. It is obvious that it cannot discharge its southbound traffic advantageously or without hazard unless that thoroughfare measures out to the width of Madison avenue, for Whitehall is now a great channel for three converging cross-town traffic streams.

This is a matter that should be taken up vigorously and with the same determination that made the Madison avenue development possible.

Whitehall street, which is the west end extension of Peachtree, and creates with Peachtree a through-city avenue that carries the heaviest traffic today of any thoroughfare in the city, is distinctively a commercial street.

From the end of the retail district to the railroad at Lee street it is already lined with great manufacturing, wholesale and distributing plants and warehouses.

It is the neck of the largest traffic funnel in Atlanta.

When the new viaducts are completed, and the great developments that are in sight for Forsyth street and Madison avenue are completed, it will be impossible for this neck to properly and efficiently function unless it is widened to the 80-foot width of Madison avenue. This is a matter too urgent to admit of temporizing or delay. This widening should be definitely made a part of the city's great extension program.

Citizens of Atlanta should drive over Madison avenue and get a first-hand appreciation of what can be done in street development when there is a definite program to work upon. It is almost a romance to see an alley or shabby buildings converted into a great 80-foot paved boulevard, and made the important link in a through-city traffic avenue system. The work of acquiring and condemning property on Madison avenue was in the hands of J. L. McLendon, and his excellent work and the expedition with which he completed it, with satisfaction to all interested parties, stands out as a great accomplishment, and one for which he deserves commendation. The movers in this avenue extension program deserve the gratitude of all the citizens of Atlanta, and the best way to show this is to complete it by including Whitehall in the widening program that has been so effectually applied to Madison.

GEORGIA ROADS TODAY.

Reports are coming in from all sections of the state as to the "wretched," or entirely impassable conditions, of a number of Georgia highways.

These reports follow two days of intermittent rains.

They will continue throughout the year and next year and all years to come, following a day or two of rain, until Georgia learns that the hard-surfaced highway is the only permanent year-around highway, and until Georgia applies that lesson in a business way to highway construction.

Temporary and make-shift roads are decidedly more expensive in the long run, as they have to be continually rebuilt, and the maintenance upkeep thereby becomes enormous. Georgia's highway department will spend more between now and next spring to "maintain" dirt roads, over and above the normal cost of maintaining permanent roads, than it will spend in the construction of hard roads.

The lesson of every rain is a severe and a costly one all over Georgia, in addition to the delays in business and the inexcusable expense of money and time imposed upon motorists. But it is a lesson that is easily "forgotten" under the pressure of politics every time the sun comes out.

The only answer to the condition of Georgia roads this morning is a firm and irrevocable policy to build a system of connected paved highways, and not a cheap-John system of washable dirt secondary roads.

DOING FINE WORK.

In a bulletin just issued by the industrial bureau of the chamber of commerce 38 new businesses are listed as having been added to Atlanta's industrial and commercial community during April, May and June. These are in addition to the 33 businesses acquired in January, February and March. Some of the great industrial plants are not included because, while all negotiations have been closed, the physical building of these plants, or the inauguration of business, has not yet been completed. The great Pullman company reconditioning plant, which will employ 1,000 people, is among the latter.

The industrial bureau, before and since the "Forward Atlanta" advertising campaign, has done marvelously efficient service. Indeed the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce is deserving of unstinted praise for the good work it is doing for the material welfare and commercial and industrial development of this city—and for the development of all of Georgia. It is a service institution that is systematically organized along strong and praiseworthy lines, and under the administration of President Hoffman and Executive Vice President Barker, is a virile, resourceful force in unprecedented community progress. Its good work has been felt in every recent acquisition to the city's business life.

The industrial bureau is under the very efficient management of Ivan Allen, president, and Fred T. Newell, secretary. It is a working part of the chamber of commerce institutional system.

Commenting on a proposed "organized effort to abolish poorhouses," The Indianapolis News says: "But maybe all the inmates do not care to become bootleggers."

It is said the president likes a good fish story as well as as anyone, and since the fish are not biting well, he has plenty of time to listen to them.

The fall of the French franc has become monotonous. Pretty soon it will have to do some early rising to redeem itself.

Well, even if you should try to fly over the crossings the engine of the airship might go "dead" on you.

According to the grouchy philosopher, one hears more of prohibition than he sees of it.

The bootleg trust is coming to be the "burning issue" in smaller cities than little old New York.

Just From Georgia

Mistress of the World.

I.

Is love the creature of an hour,
A pretty, glittering thing,
A humming-bird, from flower to flower,
Flitting with restless wing?
Ah, no; these idle words recall,
They are untrue, I know:
False love is never love at all,
Speak not of true love so.

II.

She's not the creature of an hour,
But Mistress of the world;
A mighty, a resistless power,
Which kings from thrones have hurled;
No creature she with glittering wings,
Born for brief sunshine hours,
Class her with the immortal things,
One of the Eternal Powers!

III.

They who have dreamed of Paradise
Where only angels roam,
Could able be to symbolize
A true love's earthly home;
Though inmates speed on wings of Time,
Through life till life is done,
They reach that wondrous world sublime—
Love's heaven, earth's life goal won!

You Tell It: We Can't!

The Clay Center Times has been asking "leading" questions of late, and here is one:

"What ought to be done with an old guy who drinks three big glasses of ice tea at supper, then goes to lodge and tanks up on a lot more of coca-cola, country club and carbonated beverages (alias pop), eats two big cheese sandwiches and a great big pork meat sandwich and then goes home and swears at his wife for being so restless and cusses the hot weather because he can't sleep?"

At the drip o' the rain—
Is the bright time coming' never?
Rain or shine,
It's a world that's mine

There's a song it sings
Of the joy it brings—
The solace for the sorrow;
O rain today,
Rain my grief away
'Till the sunlight of Tomorrow!

TESTIMONY OPENS IN HALE'S TRIAL FOR INDIAN DEATH

Guthrie, Okla., July 29.—(AP)—Testimony in the trial of William K. Hale and John Ramsey for the murder of Henry Roan, Osage Indian, was started in federal court here today after arrest of the first witness called was ordered.

Judge John H. Cotterall, presiding at the trial, ordered the arrest of George Pratt, of Fairfax, when he failed to appear. The court directed that Pratt be held in jail until he was next called.

Most of the testimony introduced today was to establish the circumstances surrounding the Indian's death.

T. J. Leahy, special government prosecutor, in his opening statement asserted evidence would show that Hale hired Ramsey to kill Roan so that he might collect a $25,000 insurance policy on the Indian's life. Several companies rejected Hale's application for a policy on Roan before one could be found to accept it, Leahy said.

Hale, in conversations with several persons who will appear as witnesses, told of attempts by Roan to commit suicide and expressed the opinion that the policy will not be paid if the Indian killed himself, the prosecutor asserted.

Riggs National Bank Named Registrar For Press Club Bonds

Washington, July 29.—(Special.) The Riggs National bank, a depository for the United States treasury department, has been named registrar for the $1,500,000 7 per cent cumulative stock issue of the National Press Building corporation, a holding company for the National Press club in the erection of their new home and office building here. This announcement was made today at the offices of the corporation in the Westory building, by James William Bryan, general manager.

The issue of preferred stock is being sold to provide for an increase in the original building plans, already completely financed. Through a special act of congress the club was permitted to erect a 14-story structure which is three stories above the height allowed under the zoning laws of the District of Columbia. The issue will also serve to retire two junior trusts.

Who Knows of Life Of Alston Clarke?

There were two brothers, Elijah and Alston Clarke, of North Carolina. It is easy to obtain full information about General Elijah Clarke, but I am a descendant of Alston and can find nothing in regard to his revolutionary actions.

LIGHTS OF PARIS
BY PIERRE VAN PAASSEN

Is there anywhere in the world such a square and such a street as the Place de la Concorde and the Champs Elysees? Of course there are plenty of animated streets in the world. But where are beauty, elegance, and the marvelous background of gardens, palaces, monuments combined in such a perfect ensemble as here?

* * * *

Here are a group of mounted cuirassiers, breastplates of bronze glittering in the sunshine. Endless streams of limousines and the finest imported Spanish and Italian motor cars. Women in gorgeous toilettes sunning themselves in the rose light of the great avenue, being admired by passing motorists. Courteous and yet not exaggerated salutations are exchanged. Spirited and open flirtation is carried on everywhere and then the dazzle of the shops of the Rue Rivoli, matchless anywhere else in the universe. It's modern civilization carried on to an apex of comfort and luxury.

* * * *

The French have a happy way of constructing their streets. They break the view. Take, for instance, the great avenue that runs from the Bois de Boulogne to the Place de la Concorde. It's split in two by the gigantic Arch of Triumph, that towering monument to the genius of Napoleon and the valor of his armies. Without that the avenue would have a dreary, monotonous sweep.

* * * *

One of the charms of Paris too often absent in our great American cities is the presence of thousands of trees all along the main avenues. It lends not only decorum, but also fragrance and coolness and freshness to the sight.

* * * *

These are some of the popular Parisian beliefs, superstitions and fallacies in connection with Americans. A very rich man, that is to say somebody who possesses millions, must perforce come from Pittsburg, a butcher is a Chicagoan, a dark-complexioned Americano hails from Texas, a man wearing a sombrero is a Detroiter, a fellow with a large diamond stickpin is a motor car manufacturer. The papers also follow this classification in mentioning the doings of Americans here.

* * * *

The number of Americans in the Foreign Legion is truly astonishing. You see them occasionally walking around the streets of Paris, on leave from Syria or North Africa, where France wages eternal wars against native tribes. They are bronzed and battered fellows, their breasts generally covered with decorations. Their uniform is khaki. Without a doubt they are the best fighters in the world and they are in fact the only military men who attract any attention at all.

* * * *

These native princes from Morocco in their white silken robes and beautiful black beards consider Paris their home and capital as much as the farmer from the Bordeaux region. One sees them on the boulevards taking in the sights or else driving languourously along in slick automobiles. Nothing backward about them, either. They don't hesitate in the least to invite the prettiest girl they see to step into the car with them and, by jove, the little Parisiennes don't have to be asked twice, either. For the Moroccan princes, in addition to having a reputation for being ardent lovers, are considered amongst the most generous of the international mob of visitors and tourists in France.

HEALTH TALKS
BY WM. BRADY, M. D.

DIARY OF A HEALTHY BOY.

Extracts from his mother's letter:

"Our little son (or rather our tall, slender son) is 13 years old. He is a healthy specimen now, though he was a delicate-appearing baby, and I've always been particular about his food and his rest, but I've never bothered about drafts or wet feet or heavy clothing. Nice, motherly neighbors have always predicted that he would 'catch his death o' cold.' He never has had but one attack of coryza and two sore throats, measles mildly, and mumps. He has always played outdoors in all sorts of weather, and we've camped out in really cold weather and in pouring rains, as we are motor-camping fans. Since he was a toddler I've always let him put on his bathing suit and play outdoors in the rain. In zero weather he comes cheerfully down the street with his coat open and his cap stuffed in his pocket. I try to make him wear a cap in winter, to prove to the neighbors that he has one, but he says his head gets hot and he usually carries it in a pocket. In this he emulates his father who wears his hat in his hand or in the back seat of the car. Once we were ready to start for an afternoon wedding, when father's hat could not be found. Finally he remembered he wore it to church last. We telephoned the janitor, who said the hat was in our pew and had been there two or three weeks.

"In bad weather the boy's feet are always wet, for he likes to splash through the puddles as most boys do. At night he takes a warm bath, gets into pajamas, bathrobe and slippers and after supper is ready for bed.

"His bedtime was 6:30 until he was 9, then a little later, until now at 13 it is 8 o'clock. He wakes at 7, does the radio exercises with his father, takes a quick shower or dip and is ready for the day.

"He ate no meat until a year ago, but now takes it about twice a week. He eats lots of fruit and vegetables, whatever is obtainable fresh, drinks great quantities of water, and from a quart to three pints of milk daily. He always gets all the water in which vegetables are cooked, either in soup or boiled down as sauce.

"He has no 'sweet tooth' and if given a piece of frosted cake he will remove the icing and lay it aside. He doesn't care for ice cream, sodas, cocoa, chocolate and seldom wants anything between meals, except the fruit which is always available for that purpose.

"He is very athletic and active, and does well at school. He is a great reader. I was a library assistant before marriage and formerly I selected his books for him, but lately he says the books I select aren't very interesting—not many people get killed in them.

"He would rather play outdoors than attend the movies. He never attends at night and he hates to give up an afternoon, though occasionally he goes to a special attraction, such as Harold Lloyd's 'The Freshman.'

"Long before I learned your view about castor oil I had discovered that letting him eat as many oranges at one time as he liked (generally half a dozen) was just as effective as a physic, though this has seldom been required.

"Our son sleeps every night in a draft, and often sits in a draft. We think our son proves the correctness of your teachings about the harmlessness and healthfulness of 'exposure.'"

PROMINENT WOMAN OF AUGUSTA DIES IN NEW YORK CITY

Augusta, Ga., July 29.—(AP)—Mrs Cecil Cochrance, one of Augusta's best-known women, died this morning at the home of Mrs. Ernest Malcolm in New York, according to information received by relatives.

Mrs. Cochrance went to New York about ten days ago to spend some time with Mrs. Malcolm during Mr. Cochrance's absence in Liverpool, where he had been called on business. Pneumonia was the cause of death.

Funeral arrangements will be held in abeyance pending the return of Mr. Cochrance.

RAILROAD MEN GET INCREASE IN PAY

Savannah, Ga., July 29.—(AP)—Official announcement was made today that the clerks of the Central of Georgia railway over the entire system have been granted increases in pay effective August 1. The increases range from 1 to 5 cents an hour. Nearly 2,000 clerks are affected; 800 of them being in Savannah.

The Atlantic Coast Line railway also announced increases in pay effective August 1 for clerks, trainmen, engine crew callers and a few others. The increase is based on length of service and ranges from 1 cent an hour to 3 cents an hour.

NEW MOTOR LAWS NOT ENCOURAGED

Chicago, July 29.—(AP)—The public, as represented by some of Chicago's principal shippers, does not want federal regulation of motor trucking at this time. That was the consensus of statements today to the interstate commerce commission a its hearing to determine facts concerning operation of motor busses and truck for possible recommendations to congress.

The shippers generally stated their belief that the time will come when regulation is necessary, and that the present investigation will afford opportunity to indicate motor transportations' proper niche.

"We believe the time will come when federal regulation of motor vehicles engaged in interstate commerce will be in the public interest," said J. P. Haynes, traffic director for the Chicago Association of Commerce.

"We are not convinced that this time has arrived, as the motor truck furnishes an entirely different kind of service from what is provided by common carriers now subject to the act to regulate commerce. In the transportation of short haul traffic it affords an expedited door-to-door service with which the rail carriers as such cannot compete."

Move To Halt Dry Referendum Made by Woman

New York, July 29.—(AP)—Seeking to enjoin city officials from submitting the state prohibition referendum to the voters next fall, Helen M. Albert, as a citizen and taxpayer, filed suit in the supreme court today. She alleges that the recent act of the legislature providing for the referendum is unconstitutional. Arguments will be made tomorrow.

The question to be submitted as provided in the bill signed by Governor Smith May 19, is:

"Should the congress of the United States modify the federal act to enforce the eighteenth amendment, so that the same shall not prohibit the manufacture, sale, transportation, importation and exportation of beverages which are not in fact intoxicating as determined in accordance with the laws of the respective states."

The complaint alleges that the legislature lacked authority to enact the bill. It charges that submission of the question would increase the cost of the election, and the city officials have no right to spend the additional money.

The New York women's committee for law enforcement is behind the movement to prevent the referendum, it was said at the office of Attorney Bertha Rembaugh, who filed the suit.

CAPONI IS FREED AS STATE ADMITS EVIDENCE LACKING

(By Leased Wire to The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)

Chicago, Ill., July 29.—Al ("Scar Face") Caponi, alias Brown, who has laughed at the law for years, gave justice another hearty guffaw today and rode away from the criminal court building in a large touring car. Seven mounted policemen made a lane for him through a throng of spectators and his chauffeur dashed away, regardless of traffic rules, with Caponi, huddled in a rear seat, both he and his driver looking back frequently, as if expecting other cars to follow as an escort.

"Scar Face," a bootleg king, has been sought for months in connection with the murder of Assistant Prosecutor William H. McSwiggin and his two companions, who were shot down by a machine gun in front of a Cicero saloon. After he had arranged his affairs satisfactorily, Caponi came in and surrendered. In court today the state's attorney admitted he had nothing but hearsay evidence and Judge Lynch ordered Caponi dismissed.

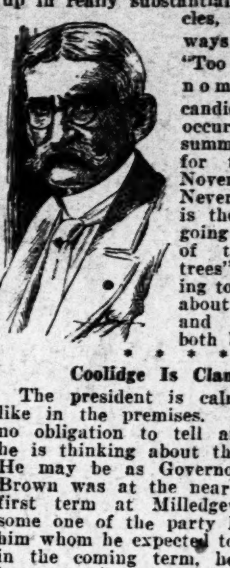
FOREST HEADS SEEK NEW SITE IN GEORGIA

L. M. Lufburrow, state forester, was to address the timberland owners in Washington Friday, July 30, it was announced at the state forestry board offices here.

Mr. Lufburrow and W. W. Ask, of the United States forestry service, will go to south Georgia next week to study locations for a new national forest purchase unit which is to be established at an early date, it was also announced.

E. W. Hadley, newly elected assistant forester for Georgia, will report to the office in the state capitol for service the first of next week, it was said.

Looking and Listening
BY SAM W. SMALL.



Whenever the subject of "Who will succeed Coolidge in 1929?" comes up in really substantial political circles, there is always the answer, "Too early." The nominations of candidates will not occur until the summer of 1928 for the following November election. Nevertheless "there is the sound of a going in the tops of the mulberry trees" and a growing tonnage of talk about the eligibles and probables in both big parties.

* * * *

Coolidge Is Clam-like.

The president is calm and clamlike in the premises. He is under no obligation to tell anybody what he is thinking about the next term. He may be as Governor Joseph E. Brown was at the near close of his first term at Milledgeville. When some one of the party leaders asked him whom he expected to be governor in the coming term, he replied, "I have a notion of taking it again myself!" And he did—and then for two terms more.

The president may be an aspirant for another term—but decision as to that, apparently, is dormant yet in the lap of the political gods.

National and international circumstances when the day of decision arrives will doubtless dictate his determination. If he does offer, he will be hotly opposed within his own party ranks and will also have to meet the challenge of the third term tradition. Whether the proverbial "Coolidge luck" will be in high gear in June, 1928, cannot be forecast now.

* * * *

Lining Up for Lowden.

The form sheet of today shows ex-Governor Frank Lowden, of Illinois, as the probable chief contender. If the farm relief issue takes on paramount position, Lowden will be backed in the west with enthusiasm and get formidable strength of convention delegates. The farmers generally regard him as "belonging" and as their earnest and reliable friend. But to put him over they will have to stick together like swarmed bees and be strong enough to beat the east at every turn of the convention road.

Lowden's weakness is in the notorious incohesiveness of the farm element. They could have had all the legislation they need, or want, long ago had they stuck together in any presidential campaign since 1890. But they wouldn't; nor will they in 1928.

* * * *

Betting on Borah.

There are many shrewd politicians who are mentally laying odds that Borah means to fight for the 1928 nomination and that his chance to capture it is second to none—not even Coolidge's.

The fact that Borah comes from Idaho with only four electoral votes is deemed negligible in his case. He is one man considered bigger than his state. He has grown into a national and international quantity, with breadth and weight. As chairman of the foreign relations committee of the senate he is a powerful and commanding figure and he is statesman enough to know how to utilize his position and influence.

Borah, in spite of his personal ascetism and hermitage habits, is yet a magnetic and fascinating personage to the independent public. As Teddy would say, "he is as clean as a hound's tooth," and I can name no man whom I believe would make a wiser, safer and more popular president.

* * * *

But, There Are Others.

Coolidge, or no Coolidge, there will be a field of entries for the presidential grand prix.

You will need to keep an eye on Charles Gates Dawes, who presides over the senate and has scant respect for its efficiency. He wants "right much" to be president and thinks of a lot of things that the country ought to have done to it. Also that he is the man to do 'em.

He has the prestige of big financial successes, both personal and political, and is one man from the west that the east could look upon without having cold chills. His entry actively into the race would make things spectacularly lively for the other contestants.

* * * *

Then, There Is Frank Willis.

One of the big republicans growing bigger in the senate and in popular repute is Senator Frank Willis, of Ohio. Should he be re-elected in November "the Ohio crowd" will promptly run his presidential pennant to their masthead and go out to get the bacon. And history records that when those Buckeyes get bacon-hungry they usually return from the foraging fully satisfied.

Willis is a lovable, clean-hearted and experienced executive and few men in America would fit the presidential chair better and with finer fidelity to every section of the nation.

I reserve comment on our democratic possibilities for another day.

Program Arranged For Food Dealers, Distributors' Fete

Funds for a gala program of music and entertainment for the first joint outing of all lines connected with the food business in Atlanta, at Lakewood Amusement park August 18, will be raised this week by a finance committee composed of J. L. McCord, president of the Produce club; Fred S. Gould, representing the bottling industry; J. Ed Raley, representing the brokers; W. O. Stamps, representing the wholesalers, and H. R. Stanfield, representing the retailers.

The committee was appointed at a joint meeting Thursday by A. J. Elliott, general chairman of the committee on co-operation between all lines of business which will participate in the outing. More than 15,000 persons are expected to attend, according to J. H. Merritt, president of the Atlanta Retail Food Dealers' association, which issued the invitation to all other branches of the industry to join in one mammoth affair.

Mikell and the Rev. T. R. Bucknell will officiate and interment will be in West View cemetery. Vestrymen of the church will act as pallbearers.

TRAIN ROBBERS GET $63,000 CASH

Boston, July 29.—(AP)—Following a carefully-planned course of action, two bandits today held up two men on a Boston and Maine branch train in Salisbury, selected a small pouch containing $65,000 consigned to an Amesbury bank, leaped from the moving car and escaped in a waiting automobile. A small army of state and local police and citizens had found no trace of the robbers tonight.

The loot was a money consignment from the Federal Reserve bank in Boston to the Powow River National bank in Amesbury, designed as a cash balance against which checks for several factories were to be drawn. At Newbury Port the money sack was placed on the small branch train which runs six miles through Salisbury to Amesbury With other mail the cash was in a combination baggage and smoking car, the last of the three-car train.

The two robbers rode as passengers from Newbury Port. Just as the train was drawing out of the Salisbury station, they rose from their seats, drew revolvers and forced Baggagemaster William A. Jordan and a brakeman off duty Harry O. Babcock, into the baggage end of the car.

Jordan fell or jumped from the rear platform, ran a quarter of a mile back to the Salisbury station and gave the alarm. Keeping Babcock covered the two robbers found the sack, threw it from the train and leaped after it. They sent one shot whistling after the train to frighten off pursuit.

Mexicans Tried In 'Shame Suicide' Cases Acquitted

Tia Juana Baja, Lower California, July 29.—(AP)—Zenaido Llanos, former police chief, and three others charged with offenses against two American girls here last February, were acquitted by a jury in the court of first instance here tonight.

Plutarco Gallegos, attorney general for the northern district of Lower California, making the government's chief argument, characterized Luis Amador, one of the defendants, as a "ruffian."

"Amador, criminal that he is," shouted the attorney general, "instigated the whole affair."

The two girls charged that they were drugged and attacked by Amador, former Police Chief Zenaido Llanos and Refugio Alvarez, a bartender in Amador's saloon, on the night of February 3 last.

The girls' family, consisting of father, mother and two daughters, ended their lives in their home in San Diego, supposedly from shame at their experience here.

In shifting blame on Amador, Gallegos cited what he termed the brilliant record of Llanos as chief of police at Mexicali and later at Tia Juana.

"Amador was responsible for the whole thing," he said. "He dragged Llanos into his scheme, obtained a room in a hotel for one of the girls and engineered the trip of the other girl and Lanos to the hot springs resort."

ANDREW MELLON KEEPS ITINERARY IN EUROPE SECRET

(Copyright, 1926, for The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)

Rome, July 29.—The whereabouts of Andrew W. Mellon, secretary of the treasury of the United States, is supposed to be a mystery to the American embassy here, as well as to the secretary's son-inlaw, David K. E. Bruce, American consul, who declares that though he has not heard from Mellon, the latter is expected to arrive in from one to three days by motor. He insists that the secretary of the treasury is on a vacation and Mr. Mellon, in communicating with anyone here or in America, has pleaded that his whereabouts be kept secret, in order that he may be let alone and not dragged into further politics with Winston Churchill, chancellor of the British exchequer, as to whether the United States is a Shylock or is generous.

14 BROKERS FACE TRIAL AS OWNERS OF 'BUCKET SHOPS'

Five indictments charging 14 Atlanta brokers with the offense of a misdemeanor in connection with the alleged operation of their respective business concerns as "bucket shops," were returned Wednesday by the Fulton county grand jury.

Those indicted were: H. H. Brown, R. E. Barkdull, Harry Bewick, J. C. Fonville and H. D. Burke, jointly; Harry Clarke, B. A. Bliven, W. B. Broadbent, and W. P. Rochester, jointly; T. S. Denton; W. R. Sims, J. T. Jenkins, Edward Long and Percy Fonville, jointly.

Each indictment set out three counts, namely: that the defendants maintained a business for the purpose commonly called dealing in futures on margin; that they acted as agents and brokers for principals outside of the state of Georgia in making contracts and agreements called dealing in futures on margin and that they maintained a gaming house.

In commenting on the action of the grand jury, Solicitor General John A. Boykin stated that he presented the bills to that body with a request that indictments be returned against the defendants who were not previously indicted when the crusade was first inaugurated and who "were taking advantage of the injunction to prevent prosecution which was carried to the supreme court." The supreme court recently ruled that the defendants named in previous indictment were subject to prosecution if the allegations of the solicitor were true.

Philadelphia, July 29.—(AP)—John J. Deviny, Washington, D. C., was elected president, and New York chosen as next year's meeting place, at today's session of the International Association of Printing House Craftsmen. Mr. Deviny defeated Ernest C. Ditman, Chicago, 23 to 13.

DR. W. R. BRIGHAM DIES AT DUBLIN

Dublin, Ga., July 29.—(Special.)—Dr. W. R. Brigham, 52, prominent physician of Dublin for nearly 30 years, died of typhoid-pneumonia at his home here this morning about 11 o'clock.

Nearly 30 years ago Dr. Brigham came to Dublin and opened his office. At that time he was just starting out in his profession. He had become one of the foremost physicians of this section and was prominent in affairs of the county.

As a director of the First National bank, he had displayed an important part in the financial development of this section. During the world war Dr. Brigham held a commission as captain in the medical corps. Four years ago he married Mrs. Lottie Robinson Turner, of Baltimore, Md.

Surviving are his widow; three daughters, Charlotte Turner, Jean Brigham and Caroline Brigham; his mother and the following brothers and sisters: Arthur Brigham, Girard, Ga.; Ernest Brigham, Macon; Mrs. Jennie Hurst, of North Carolina; Mrs. Frank Godbee, Warrenton, Ga., and Mrs. Earl Zimmerman, Sandersville, Ga.

Funeral services will be held in Dublin Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

Claiming Mate Set Home Afire, She Asks Divorce

Charging that her life and home were endangered on the night of July 27, when her husband, Gabriel Gabrielson, set fire to clothes in a closet in her residence, Mrs. Gabrielson Thursday filed suit for divorce in Fulton superior court on grounds of cruel and inhumane treatment.

The suit, which was filed by James I. Moore, attorney, asked that a total divorce be granted; that permanent alimony be awarded; that her maiden name, Miss Alice Webb, be restored and that the defendant be restrained and enjoined from coming near the plaintiff or in any way molesting her or communicating with her except through her attorney.

Judge John D. Humphries granted the restraining order and set August 7 at 9:30 o'clock as date for hearing, at which time the defendant must show cause, if any, why the prayers of the petitioner should not be granted.

According to the suit, the petitioner and defendant were married on August 16, 1925, and lived together as man and wife until after the alleged incident on the night of July 27.

"The defendant set fire to something in a closet to one of the rooms in her residence and one of the ladies rooming in the residence discovered it, awakened the petitioner and the fire was extinguished," the petition sets out. Had it not been that the fire was discovered by the roomer, the petitioner would probably have been burned to death and the home destroyed, according to the suit. Immediately after the fire had been extinguished the defendant came home drunk and, on numerous occasions, threatened the petitioner's life, it was brought out.

"The defendant has caused her to fear for her life, injured her health and utterly wrecked her happiness and made it impossible for her to live any longer with the defendant as wife," the petition states.

HOW TO BE HAPPY

Secret Is Forgetfulness of Self, Says Krishnamurti.

Ommen, Holland, July 29.—(AP)—The secret of happiness resides in an understanding of eternity, detachment from all things belonging to transient life of the world and forgetfulness of self in the development of love for others, which in turn leads to true knowledge of the unity of all life, is the formula of the young Indian Krishnamurti, the new "world teacher." He announced it last night in speaking at a camp fire meeting of the congress of the Order of the Star of the East, now being held here.

Off the Reel
Going To See the Movies
BY SAM W. SMALL.

Going to see the movies has become the popular and perennial pastime of the American people.

The transparent photograph film was invented by Eastman only in 1888 and the machine to use it for moving pictures materialized under the hand of Wizard Edison in 1893, so the whole blooming industry and amusement has grown to its present enormities in the last third of a century.

In a scientific review published in 1900, it was said: "It is doubtful if, among all the productions of human genius, there will ever be anything nearer the miraculous than the almost universally used telephone."

Now look at all the wonders that we have acquired since—the bargain-counter flivver, the airplane, the wireless and radio and "universally used" lipstick.

There are more than 20,000 motion picture theaters in the United States, many of palatial glory, and more building daily. The investments in the industry total more than a billion and a half dollars, with 300,000 employees.

Over 700 feature pictures, averaging 5,000 feet long, are produced each year and the weekly attendance to view them is 130,000,000 persons—more than all the inhabitants of the continent.

Those people pay at the box offices $550,000,000 a year. Of that money $5,000,000 is paid for advertising in newspapers and magazines and $7,000,000 for printing, engraving, lithographs, billboards, etc.

The film manufacturers turn out 150,000 miles of film yearly and souther farmers should be interested in the fact that 5,000,000 pounds of cotton go into those films.

The silver miners out west are also interested in the fact that to sensitize the films 156 tons of pure silver bullion are used each year. Used as a ribbon the films used in one year for motion pictures would girdle the earth at the equator six times.

The people must be amused, no less than "le roi," for the people are the sovereigns in our blessed land. No more useful and entrancing instrument for education and information, as well as amusement, is known among men than the moving picture. Hence the imperative need that the 62,000,000 young people who go to the movies weekly in America should be given clean pictures and guarded against those that are unclean and suggestive of crime.

HARDMAN SPEAKS ON ISSUE IN RACE

If the legislature of 1927 votes to submit the question of a bond issue to the people of Georgia for approval or rejection, Dr. L. G. Hardman, candidate for governor, will approve such submission if he is elected governor, he declared Thursday at the regular weekly luncheon of the City club of Atlanta at which he was the honor guest.

Dr. Hrdman declared he would approve such submission provided there were bonds for rural school purposes, rural road purposes and for the University of Georgia as well as bonds for highway purposes.

"My position on bonds was made clear in an article in The Constitution published in 1924 and I have not changed this position," Dr. Hardman said. "In that year I opposed a bond issue of $75,000,000 because I felt voting such a sum to be handled under the system of administration then existing would cause waste."

Dr. Hardman said the bond issue has no place in the present race for governor. He said the biggest need of Georgia at present is a business administration of the state's affairs.

"I don't believe the people in the country sections really understand the issue," he said. "The state must have a business man at its head if this state is to grow as it should grow. We cannot make progress until we do have a business head. As long as we have unrest and political agitation we cannot make the progress we should make. If we can impress on the nation the fact that Georgia is to have a real sound business administration then we can move forward. The governor of this state should stand for sound business government."

Dr. Hardman said all departments of state which are wasteful or which are run for the selfish promotion of private interests should be eliminated.

"Georgia needs truth and honesty in government as well as wisdom, justice and moderation," he said.

In his speech Dr. Hardman made no direct reference to his opponents in the race for governor. He was introduced by Joel Hunter, president of the club. Dr. Hardman was the first candidate for state office to appear before the club. Other candidates will be invited from time to time to appear before the organization and present their views.

This group of Georgia women met Wednesday at the state capitol and formed a Georgia organization which will affiliate with the National League for Law Enforcement. Holding an American flag in the center of the assemblage is Mrs. J. E. Andrews, prominent Atlanta reformer, who will serve as president of the new organization until a meeting to elect permanent officers is held in Macon in October. At her left is Mrs. Marvin Williams, temporary vice president.

Biggest Hit of Season Scored by 'Katinka' At Atlanta Theater

Only three performances remain of "Katinka" by the excellent company of the Municipal Opera association at the Atlanta theater, one of the most successful productions of the season. It will give place next week to "Sari," with Louise Hunter in the title role and Lou Powers in his noted impersonation of the tutor.

"Sari" should pack the theater at every performance, judging from its immense popularity when dainty Mitzi presented it several seasons ago. Louise Hunter fits the role of the Hungarian girl as though the composer had written it with the little Metropolitan opera star in mind. Like her part in "The Pirates" it demands an exceptional voice and musical training.

Lou Powers will play Cadeaux, the eccentric tutor, a part with which he is familiar, and Francis J. Tyler will be the King of Massilia. Mr. Templeman will have a great role as Pali, the gypsy leader and wizard of the violin.

Seats went on sale yesterday for "Sari" with a demand that assures big audiences all the week.

THANKED FOR PERSHING

U. S. Given Credit for Sending General.

Lima, Peru, July 29.—(AP)—President Leguia, in his annual message to congress, has expressed gratitude to the American nation and admiration for General Pershing, the first president of the Tacna-Arica plebiscitary commission.

At the same time he condemned strongly what he termed a reign of terror instituted by Chile in the disputed territory leading to the breakdown of the plebiscite.

He said that he considered Peru's policy in the matter a triumph tantamount to the recovery of the "lost" province of Tacna and Arica.

SALES TAX UPHELD

Solicitor Rules in Favor on Levy on Profits.

Washington, July 28.—(AP)—Real estate dealers must pay regular income taxes on profit from sales of land and cannot take advantage of the capital gains provision of the law allowing a flat 12 1-2 per cent rate, it was ruled today by A. W. Gregg, solicitor of the internal revenue bureau.

This ruling, however, will not apply to property held by dealers "primarily for investment," Mr. Gregg said.

AVIATOR WILL LEAP FROM PLANE TO LAKE

Jimmy Calhoun, noted airplane stunt man and stunt instructor of the A. B. McMullen School of Aviation, at Lakewood Park aviation field, will make the parachute jump from an airplane into the lake at Lakewood park as a climax to the demonstration of airplane stunt flying to be given in front of the grandstand there Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock by the McMullen school.

Mr. Calhoun's appearance here Sunday will be his first since he broke his arm early this summer in a parachute leap at Vidalia, Ga. His first accident broke his back in 1920 at Eastman, Ga., putting him out of the flying game for nearly a year.

History Textbook Selection Closed, Asserts Eubanks

"Selection of a history textbook for Atlanta schools has been made and the question is closed so far as the board of education is concerned." This statement was given out Thursday by Dr. R. M. Eubanks, president of the board, after a move was initiated to have the question reopened.

"There is no rule that requires a majority of the board to vote for the adoption of a book," Dr. Eubanks stated. "The only state ruling regarding the adoption of books is that a book must be adopted between January 1 and the following August 1, at a regular meeting.

"I asked a ruling from City Attorney James L. Mayson and I was told that the adoption of a textbook requires only the majority of a quorum. I was sure of my grounds before I went to the meeting and there is no technicality that can be raised now."

Dr. Eubanks declared that while he did not think the McNeal history, which was adopted, had enough ancient history he did not vote on the question because it would have tied the vote, thus leaving the schools without a book. The board previously had voted to discontinue the use of Webster's history.

In speaking of the fight staged in the meeting, Dr. Eubanks said that certain members had bordered on personalities and that "should not have been done." He said that the question of "sewing up" the votes, which was charged against Mrs. Nelson, was unfair, since both sides "had their minds made up before voting on the question."

Nathan B. Forrest, head of the Georgia realm of the Ku Klux Klan, stated Thursday that he had not examined the books in question and did not care to give out a statement. He had nothing to do with the resolutions passed by Nathan Bedford Forrest klan, No. 240, regarding the books, he said.

Although it was reported that a fight on the action of council in adoption of the McNeal history would be made by other publishers, no definite statement to this effect could be secured Thursday night. It is understood that other publishers will investigate the matter thoroughly with a view to taking legal action if necessary to obtain their rights.

It was claimed that members of the committee discriminated among publishers in selecting the McNeal history and that other publishers were not notified that a change of books was contemplated.

Big Orders Given To Textile Mill At Atlanta Pen

Washington, July 29.—(Special.)—The textile mill of the Atlanta federal penitentiary will be busy on orders received by the department of justice from other government departments. These orders have been received in connection with the justice department's recently adopted policy of furnishing various branches of the government with what they need through industrial workers in the federal prisons.

The commerce department has ordered canvas to be used in lighthouses under the jurisdiction of that department.

The treasury department has ordered about 12,000 yards of white canvas for the coast guard service. The forest service in Montana has placed an order for 12,000 yards of canvas for use in fighting forest fires. An order for canvas was also received from the government of Porto Rico.

Canvas duck up to this time constitutes the principal product of the textile mill in the Atlanta penitentiary. During the past week 12,000 yards of bleached duck were ordered by the quartermaster of the war department. The interior department has placed an order for 8,000 yards of nainsook for Indian schools, conducted under the jurisdiction of that department.

"These orders for textiles give increasing opportunities for useful employment of the prison inmates," the department said.

MILL OPERATING AT CAPACITY.

The government maintains a bureau in Washington where orders are taken for products of the textile mill at the Atlanta federal penitentiary, according to Warden John Snook, of the Atlanta institution. Throughout the summer the mill has been operating daily and turning out its full capacity, it was stated.

THE DREAM FACE.

Suddenly Richenda's pink cheeks whitened, a little startled look came into her wide, dark eyes, a little gasp of fear came through her parted lips.

"Girls," she said slowly, a note of strange amazement in her voice, "girls, it's he—the—the—man who comes in my dreams. Jean—Kathie—what does it mean? O, look!"

They fell upon her, tore the paper from her shaking fingers, voices raised in questioning exclamation.

Richenda couldn't speak now. She was trembling violently, white to the lips. She could only point weakly at the pictured face which gazed out from the printed page.

A lean, hatchet face it was, clean shaven, with finely cut features, a wide, firm mouth above a thin jaw line, a pair of keen, humorous eyes, looking out from under heavy brows. A strange, unusual face, that few could pass by with a cursory glance. A strong face—indomitable will showed in every line of it. A whimsical sadness lurked in the compelling eyes. Good intellect spoke from the broad, high brow. Courage showed in the chin. Not a handsome face, but one which by its fascinating force could make those who saw it look—and look again.

And so Jean and Kathleen looked again.

"What do you mean, Richenda?" they demanded.

Richenda was more composed now, her breath came a shade more quietly.

"That is the face which comes in my dreams," she said. "Now you know why I couldn't marry John Charteris."

"It is incredible," cried Jean, "impossible! You've never seen the man! Dick, you are mad—dreaming!"

"No," said Richenda, a rather wonderfufl soft light shining in her eyes. "I'm awake—now."

Kathleen was reading the typescript aloud, punctuating her words with staccato shrieks of excitement.

O—o!" she cried, "he's Brett Fairways, the famous explorer! I've read about him before. He did that wonderful Central Australian journey—you know—they got captured by the Aborigines and nearly eaten alive. Look," she pointed a pink nail at the heading above the photograph: "Brett Fairways Starts for Africa Today."

Jean chimed in. "A six months' tour in East Africa. The famous explorer goes on holiday. O, Richenda, how perfectly wonderful!"

"Are you sure—quite sure—it's the same man?" persisted Kathleen.

"Quite sure." Richenda's tone was steady now. "I know that face too well to make any mistake."

Kathleen's eyes glowed fire. "Dickie, do you think he is the right man?" she breathed.

"That's just what I've got to go and find out," answered Miss Peterson calmly.

She could see the smoke palls of London miles away.

"O, Dickie! You'd never . . . You surely don't mean to go to——"

"I shan't need that pin, girls," she said then. "The question has answered itself. I'm—going—to——"

She paused suddenly. A united yell broke from the other two pairs of lips.

"O Dick, go on . . . go on . . . you're going to——"

"To East Africa," ended Richenda.

The silence of utter amazement closed upon her words. Then:

"O Dick, you can't do a dreadful thing like that!" Even Kathleen was scandalized.

"It's tantamount to chasing a man round the world," put in Jean. "Suppose he ever found out!"

Richenda knitted her black brows fiercely. "I shall not chase him," she told them. "You simply don't understand! Girls, girls, can't you see? It's like so many points won in a game of chance. First his face comes in my dreams, and then, on the heels of that, all this money showers down upon me, spelling adventure, escape. But escape—where? I cannot even say! Then the newspaper falls right under my hand. His face again—Africa! What unanswered question is it hurling across to me? I cannot tell. But, Kathie, Jean, it's something—something meant for me alone. Chance knocks at the door of every one's life at least once. Should one turn a deaf ear to its calling? Should I go off at a tangent to some opposite side of the world just from a sense of mid-Victorian convention?

"I won't do it!" She clinched her brown hand fiercely. "I'll go the way that these strange happenings direct. I'll see what is at the end of them. . . . Girls, there's more in heaven and earth than our tiny comprehensions can ever realize! I may never even see Brett Fairways, but yet I know that in some strange manner he is going to influence my life. I'll make my way into that sphere of influence. That's all I'll do. I'll go to Africa—East Africa—and I know as well as I've ever known anything that the minute I set foot there Fate will take the shaping of my life into her own hands. I'll rest content to let her lead me where she will!"

"Union Castle Line—Tilbury to South Africa—East Coast Route—Kenya Colony—Port Mombasa—Fares . . . " Kathleen was ruffling the leaves of a yellow guide book.

. . . .

Tilbury!

Richenda Peterson leaned her slim elbows over the taffrail of the S. S. Tibetan and watched the drab gray buildings of the murky town on its colorless river slip back westward.

How the days betore had scurried by! The endless buying, sorting, packing.

She hadn't taken more than she could help, true enough. In her cabin below there was but one portly trunk and big suitcase. But, stowed away in that trunk was one part of a Bank's World Letter of Credit, and the duplicate part of this was sewn in a little secret money belt which Richenda in great discretion wore hidden from sight around her waist. That letter of credit is going to do great things for Richenda Peterson, she reflected, and smiled mischievously.

How drab the river looked, how dirty and unwashed the grimy tugboats!

She could see the smoke pall of London miles away. London, with its hurry and bustle, with its soul racking labor, its disappointments, its cruelties.

London—a good place to leave behind when one is going to the warm lands—the strange, new, colorful lands which spell adventure!

London! Would she ever have to come back to it? If so, how would she come back? "Broke," and disappointed, as Jean had grimly surmised, or with something of the triumph Kathleen had predicted?

Well, only time to come would tell her that. She cupped her chin in her hands with a sigh.

For a moment she felt a little scared. Somehow this wild adventure had its terrifying side. O, it was glorious, sure enough! It brought her just that spice of "differentness" for which she had often longed in the drab monotony of the years behind her, yet, too, it brought her a sense of her own smallness, a sense of loneliness, even a brooding sense of coming danger.

She shivered suddenly, drew the woolly gray traveling coat a shade more tightly round her, turned from her vantage above the quickly flowing river to the trimness of the newly painted decks, then paced toward the bow, her chin tilted to a more decisive angle.

Police Make Second Arrest
PASTOR'S WIDOW AND MAN HELD
In "Choir Mystery" Probe

Somerville, N. J., July 29.—A four-year-old mystery of illicit love that ended in a double murder under a crab-apple tree on a lonely farm in the outskirts of New Brunswick on the night of September 14, 1922, was being unraveled here tonight.

While they held Mrs. Frances Stevens Hall on a double charge of murdering her unfaithful husband, the Rev. Edward Wheeler Hall, and Mrs. Eleanor Mills, a choir singer, the state authorities were fighting with every weapon in their power to unmask those who would keep the Hall-Mills murder secret still a secret.

William Phillips, of New Brunswick, was arrested late tonight by State Trooper Hutton in New Brunswick as a material witness in the case.

He was arraigned before Justice of the Peace William Sutphin, who presided at Mrs. Hall's arraignment, and was remanded to the Somerset county jail in default of $5,000 bail.

At state police headquarters in New Brunswick it was impossible to learn the connection of the prisoner with the case. Detective Joseph Hanlon, of Prosecutor Bergen's staff, who took part in the arrest, was equally reticent to discuss Phillips' connection.

Belief that Mrs. Louise Geist Riehl, charged by her husband with being an accessory to the murder, was indirectly responsible for the arrest of Mrs. Hall was strengthened Thursday night when it was known that her husband had been questioned by investigators since early in the afternoon.

One phase of the case has developed from a report that Barbara Tough, the domestic, telephoned to Mrs. Hall early on the evening of September 14, 1922, informing her that Dr. Hall and Mrs. Mills were together in Buccleuch park on the outskirts of New Brunswick. Mrs. Hall had consistently denied she ever suspected her husband's friendship for the choir singer.

The "pig woman" was questioned this afternoon by Prosecutor Francis Bergen, of Somerset county, and Major Mark O. Kimberling, head of the state police.

In her story told at the time of the murder, which was not credited by the grand jury, Mrs. Jane Gibson, a rather eccentric woman who keeps a pig farm in the outskirts of New Brunswick, told the following story:

She was riding on her mule, Jenny, near the old Phillips farm, and passed within 50 feet of the crab-apple tree. There, under the fitful light of a moon that every few seconds would be obscured by clouds, she saw two men and two women. One of the women, she swore, was Mrs. Hall, who was accompanied by a tall man who Mrs. Gibson thought might have been Carpenter.

As she watched, she heard quick shots and saw a man and a woman fall. Then a cloud passed over the moon and she saw nothing for several seconds. When the moon came out again, she said, she saw Mrs. Hall bending over the body of the slain clergyman, weeping hysterically. She fled and said nothing until the investigation was well under way.

It was two days later that the bodies were found by Raymond Schneider and Pearl Bahmer. They had been laid out carefully side by side. The rector had been shot in the back of the head several times and Mrs. Mills once in the forehead. His body was not mutilated, but his paramour's throat was cut and the head almost severed.

The investigation which followed stirred the country for months. Torn love letters beside the bodies told the story of the illicit love of the pastor and the janitor's wife; how they had met in secret—in the choir loft, behind the church, at secret trysting places in nearby woods and field, all the time presenting a frong of respectability to the families and to the town.

90 MEN INDICTED IN LIQUOR PROBE; RING BROKEN UP

Buffalo, N. Y., July 29.—(AP)—The indictment of about 90 Buffalo and Niagara Falls men by the federal grand jury at Jamestown today for violation of the prohibition law signalized the breaking up of one of the most important illicit liquor organizations in prohibiton history, in the belief of federal officials. The organization had ramificatons as far west as Detroit and as far east as the Atlantic seaboard.

United States Attorney Richard H. Templeton, who presented evidence of the huge rum conspiracy to the grand jury, stated that the government had made the greatest single stroke against bootleggers that it had ever accomplished. He said that about 4,000 gallons of alcohol was withdrawn monthly under permit from government warehouses, through the Jopp Drug company, of Buffalo, and the Falls Tonic company, of Niagara Falls. A fleet of motor boats on Lake Ontario transported this alcohol to Canada, where it was redistilled and mixed with good Canadian whisky.

Prayers for Junior Chamber of Commerce Suggested by Rader

Urging his hearers to "pray for the members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce so that Atlanta's future leadership may fall into safe hands," the Rev. Luke Rader Thursday addressed a crowd that ignored a continuous downpour of rain to fill the Central Baptist church for the fourth service of the Rader revival campaign, scheduled to continue through next week.

The service was the third since the beginning of the series Sunday which was driven by rain out of the huge revival airdome, built for the campaign on Forsyth street, opposite the Whitehall street intersection. Workers in the revival have met each morning this week to pray for fair evenings during the period of the services.

T. W. McCord, local business man, spoke on his own religious experiences before the sermon Thursday. J. R. Whitman is to speak Friday night in the fifth of a series of talks by business men who have applied Christianity successfully in their daily lives.

CONVICT BOSS FREED BY JURY

Albemarle, N. C., July 29.—(AP)—Nevin C. Cranford, former chaingang boss, charged with the murder of two negro convicts, was found not guilty here tonight. The jury deliberated 40 minutes.

The verdict was returned at 10:50 o'clock tonight after a trial lasting more than two weeks. The state alleged that James Taylor and James Howell, negro convicts, died from the effects of beatings administered by Cranford.

MEXICO ORDERS CATHOLIC DISARMENT

Sheffield, the American ambassador, who is the dean of the corps, has not taken any official action in this respect, nor has the plan been presented to him officially.

Three persons were badly crushed, including a young man and his mother, in the Mexico City Catholic cathedral this afternoon when the explosion of a newspaper photographer's flashlight caused a panic. Those inside the densely crowded edifice believed it was a mob or the beginning of combat.

The people tried to rush for the doors. They were packed so tightly inside the edifice nobody could move far. This fact is believed to have saved many from being injured or killed.

BY JOHN CORYN.

(Copyright, 1926, for The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)

Mexico City, July 29.—Today is moving day and all the Catholic churches of the capital and the federal district church offices are being vacated while committees in charge of the churches are taking inventories of property valued at many millions.

Leaflets continue to circulate informing the Catholics of the disposition of the church. Although the church ceremonies and functions will be suspended Saturday, the leaflets explain that what should be done in case of extreme need of a priest, stating that the Catholic committees of each parish and church always will be in contact with priests for urgent need.

At the headquarters of the archbishop of Mexico this morning the church authorities expressed the opinion that the present abnormal church conditions will not last more than two weeks, but gave no explanation of the basis of their belief.

Leaflets are being distributed giving instructions for the manner of carrying out the commercial and financial boycott decreed by the church members two weeks ago. Young ladies of good families will undertake to act as barbers and cut hair and bob other women. Many picture shows are threatened with running on the rocks. Shops selling fine pastries reported today that business had declined 30 per cent in the last two weeks and that they are fearful of a further decline after the closing of the churches Saturday.

Catholics Warned.

Catholic authorities today reiterated the warning to Catholics to refrain from all public demonstrations as the aim of the episcopacy is to create a deep national sentiment in favor of religious liberty and demonstrate to the world the fact that the present anti-Catholic laws are not an expression of the will of the vast majority of Mexicans.

Fly leaves were circulated today and yesterday urging Catholics to organize for a monster anti-government demonstration Saturday and Sunday. These were denounced by Catholic authorities as the work of enemies of the church determined to create trouble for the Catholics.

While all the churches of the city and the federal district continue to receive increasingly large crowds, labor organizations work unceasingly for a monster labor demonstration Sunday manifesting the support of labor for the policy of the government toward religious organizations.

The Mexican Federation of Labor this morning issued a call to members of the organization to support the government, in part as follows:

"Now when the federal government is facing a situation created by the clergy, organized labor in Mexico feels obliged to take sides in the social struggle going on in Mexico. We give our unconditional support in this crisis to the federal government and to President Calles."

The manifesto charges the conservatives, disgruntled politicians, and anti-government, and anti-revolutionary elements with joining with the Catholic church for the overthrow of the government, without banner or creed, but with purely party aims. It says the country's enemy is working behind the skirts of women through cowarddice, attempting to obtain thus what he is afraid to fight for in the open.

Labor Fights Boycott.

The Federation of Labor declares it is determined to fight the economic boycott of the Catholics and the attempt of Catholic propogandists to suborn workmen. It accuses capital with being "allied with the clergy against the government and against the revolutionary interests to create an insupportable situation for the government and nation."

Opposed to this attitude of organized labor is that of the vast masses of the people who have vowed to protect their churches and the interest of religion. I visited the offices of several churches this morning, watched with hostile eyes. At the church of Santa Cruz Acatlan, in the Indian ward of the city, Indians came running out threateningly, prepared to defend the church from profane hands.

With two such radically opposing elements of the population the situation is full of dynamite.

A committee of Catholic women visited American Ambassador Sheffield this morning and asked him to use his influence with the Mexican government to prevent bloodshed. Mr. Sheffield explained that whatever his private sympathies may be, his official position prohibits interference in such a purely local question. However, it is known that Mr. Sheffield is in constant communication with Washington.

POPE MAY PLACE MEXICO UNDER INTERDICT.

Rome, July 29.—A call for prayers that the grievous religious situation now impending in Mexico may be averted, is the only step taken thus far by Pope Pius XI to interfere in the Mexican religious controversy.

Representatives of the Vatican, in making this statement to the United News, said that the pope realized the gravity of the situation in Mexico, but that issuance of an interdict which would forbid all Catholic rites in Mexico except administration of the last sacrament had not been discussed thus far. It was admitted that such an interdict was possible later.

Pope Pius will order world-wide prayers for the Mexican faithful Sunday, and this fact appears to make it almost impossible that an interdict will be issued before performance of this religious function.

The pope himself will lead in offering prayers for Mexico, and it is expected that this ceremony will be performed with great solemnity in all the Catholic churches of the world, except those in Mexico.

The penalty of the interdict is one of the gravest the pope can inflict and it is reasonably certain he will not issue it except as a last resort. If such an order comes it will be only after the pope is convinced that the exercise of religious functions in Mexico has been rendered impossible.

The Holy See still hopes that the Mexican government will alter its position and thus avert the interdict. Sparse news is reaching the Vatican regarding the events in Mexico, but all reports state that the Mexican Catholics are filling the churches and that thousands are being baptized daily.

It is pointed out that if religious functions are interfered with after August 1, the local bishops, by authority they have to act in the case of government prohibitions, can operate their own interdict.

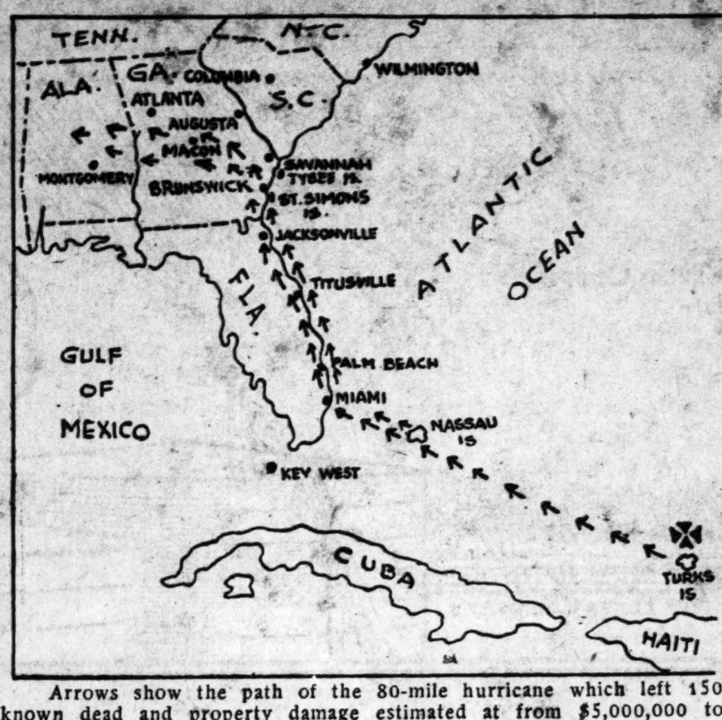
Path Traveled by Hurricane



Arrows show the path of the 80-mile hurricane which left 150 known dead and property damage estimated at from $5,000,000 to $8,000,000 in its wake, from its inception three days ago near the island of Turks north of Haiti. The storm hit the Atlantic coast at Miami and traveled north as far as the Georgia coast where, having spent its greatest fury, it turned westward and in the form of a driving rain passed through central Georgia and into Alabama.

NASSAU STORM TAKES 150 LIVES

harbor master, said today approximately 50 vessels had been hoisted with untold damage on the rocks.

Numberless rowboats and the like shared a similar fate. Sunken vessels include the sloop Hilda, the schooner Colonia, a large government dredge in addition to the Isoceles and several other unidentified boats.

The power vessels Raven and Francis E. both dragged anchors to the open sea and were believed to have gone down. Four members of the Raven jumped overboard and were rescued. No check has been available on the crews of these sunken and missing boats.

Mail Boat Is Lost.

The government mail boat Brontes, with 20 persons aboard, and the Albertine Adoue, with 40 persons aboard, were among the missing craft. Both departed shortly before the storm burst upon the city, the Brontes proceeding for San Salvador and the latter for the island of Inagua. Shortly after the storm had jumped to the Florida coast, the Munson steamer Munamar from New York and the Canadian fisher, from Kingston, Jamaica, arrived safely.

The first news of the hurricane beyond the island was brought in late Wednesday by Miami newspapermen, who had been lost for six hours on a deserted spot south of Andros island. Another airplane seeking a distressed yacht supplied fuel sufficient for the party to reach Nassau. The newspapermen, including Hal I. Leyshon, of the Miami Daily News, and R. P. Mitchell, Miami correspondent of the Associated Press, subsequently flew through the outer islands over the two Bimini islands, Morgan's Bluff, as well as the intervening smaller keys, and Great Isaac, where the British lighthouse stood in danger of crumbling, after a 140-mile gale had blown away much of the two small houses on the promontory. Every island suffered as did Nassau, only on a somewhat smaller scale, and water covered the greater portion of these outer islands. During the late afternoon boats from the Florida ocast were beginning to negotiate the still choppy waters.

Government officials stated it would be several weeks before an accurate check of the lives lost and the property damage could be made.

Attempts to communicate with Miami last night were in vain. The hurricane had snapped the thick steel ribs of the government wireless towers. S. S. Munamar, of the Munson line, lying in Nassau harbor, tried again and again to establish communication with her wireless.

Every Building Damaged.

Inspection of Nassau by daylight this morning showed that practically every building in the city had been damaged by the hurricane. The power station was out of commission. Nassau expects to be without lights for several nights.

Along the shoreline, boats were piled high and dry 50 to 75 feet from the water. The auxiliary schooner Genevieve was piled atop a concrete pier. The Mystery J, of Miami, had been driven nose on into a large liquor warehouse.

The missing ships were the Raven, which went out to sea; the Frances E, a power vessel, drifted out to sea; Genevieve, power vessel, upon the rocks; Molly O, a large launch; Skipper Bill, power vessel; Inflexible, coasting schooner; schooner Columbia, sunk off Hog island; a government dredge, the small yacht Engadine, broken to pieces on the rocks; schooner Magic, ashore. Twenty-four sloops were battered to pieces by terrific seas.

The 80-ton Isosceles was sunk at the foot of her pier; Eula M, with a cargo of lumber, the small fishing smack Royal, power vessel Mathok were piled upon the rocks. The sloop Home Comfort was out of the water and two small fishing ships, Morolomer and William Elder, were high and dry.

Freaks of Hurricane.

One freak of the hurricane was to throw up a million dollar beach in front of the new Montague Resort hotel on the north part of the island, where before there had only been white chalk and rocks.

Tales of heroism and hazardous rescues were plentiful along the waterfront. A pleasure boat, torn from her moorings, was being swept out to sea with seven of her crew and passengers aboard, when she came afoul of a barge. The men jumped for their lives, for no small boat could have lived 15 minutes in the seas as they were running. Then the barge broke loose and twelve men were forced to throw themselves into the boiling waters of Nassau harbor and swim for it. All reached shore safely.

The Bahama islands are hit hard financially, not only because of the actual damage to buildings and shipping, but because the hurricane will curtail their chief source of revenue for months to come. The liquor trade is one of the chief sources of income of the islands to the east of America and the liquor trade has been dealt a severe blow.

There was no sign of life anywhere on the great Bahama banks except at Morgan's Point and New Providence Island, Gun Cay, Bimini and Isaac's Light. Government officials say it will be weeks before a reasonably correct estimate of the loss of life can be made.

BAHAMAS HAVE FIGURED IN HISTORIC EPISODES.

A favorite haunt of the buccaneers of the 18th century, the Bahamas have figured in many historical episodes. Among these was the blockade running exploits during the American war between the states when the exports of the little island swelled from little more than $1,000,000 to nearly $20,000,000.

Many of the islands are uninhabitable. The population of Great Abago is descended chiefly from American Tories of the revolutionary days. Harbor island has about 2,000 inhabitants who claim to be descended from the buccaneers.

Scattered over a distance of 780 miles, the Bahama Islands form a barrier between the Atlantic ocean and the eastern entrance to the Gulf of Mexico. Their formation is chiefly from wind-blown piles of shell and sand, the total area being 4.403 1-2 miles. Nassau is the capital and the Andros islands are the largest and most densely wooded. Sponge fishing is the principal industry. Government is administered by the British crown. Nassau's population is 12,544.

It was on San Salvador, one of the group on the Atlantic side, that Columbus first landed in 1492.

MORE THAN 215 PERSONS ARE KILLED

the West Indian hurricane from Monday night to Wednesday morning, standing by the Italian steamer Ansaldo San Giorgio Secondo off Jupiter Inlet, Fla.

Captain Jones said the storm was the worst he had experienced in his 45 years at sea. The liner, after hastening to the Ansaldo's call of distress, stood by the stricken Italian vessel trying to take off her crew, but the seas were so high that it was impossible for the American vessel to get close to the Italian ship, which was wallowing with a disabled rudder.

The crew of the Ansaldo managed to launch lifeboats, but the Orizaba could not maneuver close enough to the bobbing small craft on Monday night to take them on board.

No Americans were seriously hurt.

Manuel Garzia, a Cuban business man, is in a serious condition. He was injured by a fall against the wall of a passageway on the steamship Monday night. Dr. Diaz Albertini and Senor Jesus Alfonzo were badly bruised. A sailor had three ribs broken.

None of the injured, except Signor Garcia, is in a dangerous condition.

The third-class quarters were flooded. The cargo shifted Monday night and at one time the steamer listed at an angle of 45 degrees.

STORM WAS GENERAL OVER PORTO RICO.

San Juan, Porto Rico, July 29.—(AP) With communication in some sections of the island still down, the reports indicate that last Friday's storm was the most general suffered here in a quarter of a century. It is estimated by the insular government that the loss will amount to $225,000, chiefly to bridges and the railroads. Five miles of track were washed out.

TROPICAL DISTURBANCE MOVES NORTHWESTWARD.

Washington, July 29.—(AP)—The tropical disturbance has moved northwestward with greatly diminished intensity, and now is central between Atlanta, Ga., and Montgomery, Ala., the weather bureau said tonight in its report of conditions. The lowest barometer reading reported was 29.74 at Montgomery. The storm has been attended by generally heavy rains in the south Atlantic and east gulf states.

Considerable cloudiness is forecast for tomorrow and Saturday over the states east of the Mississippi river, and there will be showers in a large portion of this area.

RAIN IN GEORGIA BIG AID TO CROPS.

Savannah, Ga., July 29.—(Special.) As a steady rain fell throughout eastern Georgia practically all of Wednesday night and Thursday, which was worth hundreds of thousands of dollars to Georgia farmers, it was apparent that the tropical storm which has raged on the West Indian and Florida coast for two days, had spent its fury before reaching Georgia and developed into a general rain.

One death in Georgia is attributed to the storm. J. N. Shearouse, prominent citizen of Brooklet, banker and lumberman, was killed as the locomotive he was operating on one of his own lines, turned over, due, it was said, to the weakening of the roadbed by heavy rains.

Property damage in Georgia was reported as negligible. Brunswick reports that out of 5,000 residents of St. Simons Island, only about 250 went to the mainland and that practically no damage was done on the island and none in Brunswick. The wind never reached a velocity of more than 40 miles an hour there, it was said.

While Savannah experienced a heavy rainfall, the damage in the city was slight, being confined to uprooting of a few trees and the breaking of a window pane here and there, reports say.

The 121st infantry, which was encamped on Tybee, near the shore, which was waterlogged by high tides, moved to Fort Screven and as the water receded Thursday the soldiers were salvaging effects from the abandoned camp site.

Sections throughout south and east Georgia reported heavy rains, which, it was pointed out, will mean thousands of dollars to the farmers, as some sections of the state are exceptionally dry.

PASSES MACON WITHOUT DAMAGE.

Macon, Ga., July 29.—(AP)—The weather bureau here this morning stated that the tropical storm had passed over Macon, moving northwestward, but no damage has been reported here. It has been raining here for the past 24 hours and weather officials reported 1.87 inches of rain in the past 24 hours. The Ocmulgee river here is rising slowly but is not expected to reach flood stage.

The forecast for tonight is rain with clearing weather for tomorrow. No damage has been reported here as the result of the storm.

This constitutes a new record as the largest family emigrating from Canada to the United States. The family will settle in Vermont.

Young Granddaughter Of Governor Colquitt Held Here as Runaway

Taken from a Southern railway train at the Terminal station on telegraphic advices from Washington, D. C., 12-year-old Elsie Colquitt, pretty granddaughter of former Governor O. B. Colquitt, of Texas, Thursday morning was carried to police station and is being detained in the matron's ward awaiting the arrival of her mother or stepfather, Morris Roberts, to take her back to the nation's capital.

Elsie tells a touching story of unhappiness in their home and said that her maternal grandmother, Mrs. J. W. Garrison, who also lives in Washington, had given her the money to make the journey to her paternal grandfather in Texas. "I have telegraphed him to meet me and I know he is expecting me. He is always good to me," the pretty little girl said.

Elsie's mother divorced her father, who moved to Los Angeles, Cal. She pleaded to be allowed to continue her journey to her grandfather's at Dallas, Texas.

RADER RAPS FAST LIFE IN JAYCE ADDRESS

Young men who prefer a fast life of pleasure to the quieter joys of Christian living are looking at sin by moonlight and consider it attractive because they cannot see the Rev. Luke Rader, evangelist, told the Junior Chamber of Commerce at its weekly luncheon Thursday. He urged them to learn what Christianity really is before they reject it in their daily lives.

The talk was preceded by vocal numbers by the Rev. Ralph Rader, evangelistic singer, who is assisting his brother in an outdoor revival campaign at the airdome on Forsyth at Whitehall street during the next two weeks. The Jaycee program was announced as a sample of an "old-time revival meeting" and drew a capacity attendance in spite of the downpour of rain during the luncheon hour.

INDUSTRIAL RATES OF INSURANCE HIKED

After studying a petition for increase in rates filed by industrial insurance companies, General William A. Wright, Thursday announced he would grant a 22.5 per cent increase in rates to companies handling this class of business in Georgia.

In a statement issued Thursday General Wright declared that the Georgia loss experience of the companies as set forth in a petition presented to him, warranted this increase.

General Wright said he was unconvinced that the overhead charge of 43.5 per cent was not excessive. He suggested a list of percentage charges for overhead which totaled 34.5 per cent and declared that this figure should be used in computing the net rates for use in Georgia.

Twenty-five insuranc companies joined in the petition for higher rates. They declared that they would have to have the increases or would have to cease writing this class of insurance in Georgia. They do most of their business in writing insurance under provisions of the state workman's compensation laws.

A similar loan was arranged by the same bankers a year ago. Public offering will be made tomorrow of the bank's 35-year 6 3-4 per cent bonds priced at 99 1-4.

A NEW and BETTER TEXACO GASOLINE

THE NEW TEXACO vaporizes completely in the engine manifold at a much lower temperature than others on the market.

That difference in vaporizing temperature is the difference between dry gas and wet—and the difference between clean engine work and a drugged, sluggish motor.

The new Texaco is a dry gas, and it is significant that The Texas Company should have been the first to make it possible. The successful manufacture of this new and better gasoline is the greatest motor fuel development of recent years.

At once, cylinder flooding has been overcome, manifold distribution equalized and fouled spark plug troubles eliminated.

The new and better Texaco is a pure unadulterated gasoline with non-detonating qualities achieved without the addition of any poisons.

If you will empty your automobile tank entirely of other gasolines and fill with this new Texaco, you will notice an improved operation and condition of your engine and a greater pleasure in driving. Your crankcase oil dilution will be materially reduced, and as a result, both the compression and the lubrication of your engine will be materially improved.

Mrs. Jacobs Honors Visitors With Party At 'The Brambles'

Mrs. Joseph Jacobs entertained at an informal bridge-tea Wednesday at her home, "The Brambles," on the Roosevelt boulevard, the occasion complimenting Mrs. J. W. Elliot, and Mrs. Arthur Rogers, of Mexia, Texas, who are guests of their sister, Mrs. W. L. Harlan, on Piedmont avenue. Sharing honors with these visitors were Misses Alma and Josephine Smith, of Huntington, W. Va.; Miss Pauline Davidson, of Huntington, W. Va., and Miss Hortense Bankston, of Winston-Salem, N. C., who are the attractive house guests of Mrs Jacobs.

Invited to meet the group of visitors were Mrs. Mercer Lee, Mrs. D. E. Griffin, of Miami, Fla.; Mrs. Walter Dunn, Mrs. L. W. Arnold, Mrs. W. W. Murphy, Mrs. Frances Brown, Mrs. Walter L. Harlan, Mrs. M. S Whitehead, Mrs. R. E. Marks.

Mrs. Walter Dunn will be hostess at a swimming party and luncheon party the early part of next week in compliment to Mrs Jacobs' guests. Mrs. Sol Samuels will entertain at a matinee party this afternoon in honor of Misses Davidson, Smith and Bankston. A delightful event honoring these young ladies was the luncheon and matinee party given Thursday by Mrs. M. S. Whitehead. Others who have honored Mrs. Jacobs' visitors were Mrs Henry Tenzler and Mrs. Walter Harlan.

Mrs. Cates Given Informal Tea.

Mrs. Benjamin B. Cates, of Knoxville, Tenn., who is the guest of her sister, Mrs. W. A. Smith, at her home on Peachtree street, was honored by Mrs. Edgar Dunlap at a small tea Thursday afternoon at 5 o'clock at the Piedmont Driving club. The handsomely appointed tea table was graced in the center by a silver basket filled with Dresden shaded garden flowers. Covers were laid for ten guests.

The Claws of Chippendale

IN THESE modern days a great many people become irritated by the Machine. The probability is, they are excessively sensitive people, their nerves strung like the strings of a violin. They complain of the whiz, wham and clatter of our daily existence. Such people ought to be quizzed. Would they prefer California or bust in a Covered Wagon, a Pullman compartment or a Cadillac limousine?

Take the matter of Furniture. In Chippendale's day only moguls and satraps who owned baronial or manorial estates could afford Furniture made by this master craftsman.

The reason is, Chippendale's Furniture was done by hand; naturally it was too expensive for the you and me of those times.

Today the precious heritage of Chippendale's art is alive and intact in designs reproduced by the Machine on a large scale. Even the characteristic claws of which he was so fond are whittled and manicured by steam driven tools, not losing a jot of classic integrity.

It is the long arm of industrial progress.

Modern manufacturing and distribution place this master within the purchasing power of practically everybody. And the High August Sale of Furniture even broadens the scope of the word everybody. It enables everybody and her Sister to own Chippendale Furniture!

Not only Chippendale, but the Furniture of all the other Masters is reproduced and sold economically—Adams, Duncan Phyfe, Sheraton, Heppelwhite.

Movie Moguls Coming Here

:: LEADERS OF INDUSTRY TO GATHER HERE ::

Praise South's Screen Stars

New York, July 29.—(AP)—Several leaders of New York's motion-picture colony prepared tonight to leave tomorrow for Atlanta, where a conference will begin Saturday with operators of Southern Enterprises theaters. Managers of theaters in Georgia, North and South Carolina, Tennessee and Alabama will be present at the meeting.

A. M. Botsford, director of advertising and publicity for Southern Enterprises, in commenting on plans for the trip, indicated today that the company is especially interested in the south, with Atlanta as southern headquarters for the industry.

"I look for continued and increasing prosperity in the motion-picture industry throughout the south," said Mr. Botsford today. "The discernment shown by southern audiences and their demand for nothing short of the best has spurred on producers of pictures who know they cannot offer shoddy material. The same is true of the stage presentations in the south.

"Cheap vaudeville, poor music, second-hand settings, inartistic lightings will not do. Publix theaters have found at the Howard theater in Atlanta that the better class of entertainment and service to the patron are not only pleasing things to give but are most profitable.

"In the production field of motion pictures, it strikes me as a remarkable thing that so many southern girls have definitely proved their ability and become great names in picturedom. Atlanta, of course, is known for its beautiful girls. We have seen direct examples of it in Ivy Harris, who was chosen for the Paramount school, and in Trinx Jackson, who has been a sensational hit as Atlanta's Charleston dancer in the revue which comes to Atlanta within the next six weeks.

"I don't mean just to throw bouquets, but it is my candid opinion that southern girls for some reason or other have it all over northern girls when it comes to beauty, grace and natural ability—the three recognized essentials for success in motion pictures."

Other members of the party were lavish in praising the south.

The New York party includes Sam Katz, president of Publix Theaters corporation; Harry Marx, supervisor of theater management; Sam Bembow, manager of buying and booking; A. M. Botsford director of advertising and publicity; L. E. Schneider, manager of personnel; Fred M[illegible]ler, comptroller; Lester Ludwig, assistant comptroller; Paul Raeburn, statistician; I. Halperin, of the department of theater management; Lem Stewart, advertising manager; D. J. Chatkin, of the booking department.

Gardens of Damascus Turn

:: SMELL OF POWDER REPLACES AROMA OF BLOSSOMS ::

From Peace to Abode of War

Damascus, Syria, July 29.—(AP)—The gardens of Damascus, by tradition the oldest inhabitated city in the world, where the Apostle St. Paul and the prophets of old once preached eternal life and good will among men, now echo to the rattle of machine guns, the roar of cannon and the drone of airplanes pouring death and sowing hatred.

Sombre Senegalese and swarthy Circassian troops are stalked by savage Arab dissidents across its expanse, and indomitable Druses march through the palm-flanked avenues, where the princes of Babylonia, the Pharaohs of Egypt, the prophets of Israel and the emperors of the west once walked.

Once the gardens formed a huge emerald set in the yellow sands of the Syrian desert, but today they are taking on the gray color of forbidding fortresses. Barbed wire lines their paths, formerly hidden under fences of flowers. The smell of burnt powder and the inevitable odors of a bitterly fought battleground have replaced the aroma of blossoms.

For some time the gardens of Damascus have been the scene of steady fighting between the French army that is maintaining France's mandate in Syria and the disaffected Druses who seek to storm Damascus itself. Fully 500 men must have lost their lives in the sanguinary struggle that halted when the French troops returned to their protected lines within the city, abandoning the gardens last month.

Damascus itself, more or less in a state of siege since October, 1925, is steadily being destroyed in the opinion of neutral observers.

VALENTINO STILL SEEKING TO MEET CRITIC IN DUEL

(By Leased Wire to The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)

Chicago, Ill., July 29.—Rudolph Valentino, facing a battery of cameras when he arrived at the Union Station today, set feminine hearts a-flutter when he told the world that a film sheik could also be a he-man and physically able to prove it.

Rudy is especially peeved over an editorial in a Chicago newspaper which called him effeminate, a pink powder puff, and wants to meet the writer in combat.

"This person," said Rudy, as he flicked the dust off his suede boots and tucked his slave bracelet out of sight, "has maligned me and I am ready to meet him and settle the question in the primeval, physical test of manly combat. Since he has not answered by challenge I assume he is an aged grouch or an anaemic, suffering an inferiority complex."

"Rudy" looked entirely fit for a set-to with boxing gloves. "Naturally I must be in the best physical condition to follow my profession, which is a strenuous one," he said. "I ride, I box, I fence and play tennis. There is only one sport I have not taken up and that's golf. The only time I played they said I was too rough. I nearly wrecked the course."

Local Furniture Store Offers Lowest Prices In the United States

"The lowest prices in the United States for furnishings for the home," is the amassed opinion of those who have entered into recent negotiations with Stephen Philibosian, Inc.

And the opinion is not without foundation. Various manufacturers' representatives passing through Atlanta questioned Mr. Philibosian regarding the extreme low prices prevailing throughout the entire line of house furnishings.

After going over the various items included in the marvelous collection of home furnishings the manufacturers' representatives looked at him with amazement.

"You can never sell these articles at that price and make any profit on your investment," they said. "Your carrying charges and expense of collection will absorb whatever margin of profit you may have set aside for yourself," they said.

"That is entirely erroneous," Mr. Philibosian replied. "In the first place, our terms are 'strictly cash' and that obviates any carrying charges. In the second place, our store will never have a sale; that is, when we place a price tag on an article that price is the one for which the article will be sold.

"My firm," Mr. Philibosian continued, "takes a modest profit on each article sold—our commission for handling them—and the customer makes the remaining saving."

Mr. Philibosian has returned from his recent buying trip and in his wake have followed many exceptional bargains in all kinds of household furnishings. There are articles at astoundingly low prices and others for which more is demanded. But in both cases, the price asked is in keeping with the price paid the manufacturer—and a modest margin for handling.

Mr. Philibosian extends a cordial welcome to all to pay a visit to his new store on Peachtree street, next door to the Georgian Terrace. A visit means only time pleasantly spent; not an obligation to buy.—(adv.)

London, July 29.—(AP)—Carrying a full set of robes, a cope, mitre and crosier as well as his golf clubs and tennis racquet in his baggage, the Rt. Rev. Arthur F. W. His tour includes a visit to the United States where he will lecture at various universities.

Columbus, Ga., July 29.—(AP)—Dave Black, Atlanta youth, and Cliff Horseley, of Griffin, turned in cards of 80 today for the low medalist score in the qualifying round of the local country club annual invitation tournament.

Throughout the day a drizzling rain fel but, despite the inclement weather and condition of the course, the golfers waved aside all difficulty and inaugurated play, the cream of the tourney turning in cards of high scores.

The two out-of-town golfers who tied for low medalists were three strokes in front of the nearest competitors. Jack Crenshaw, of Atlanta, and Paul Duke, Atlanta, had scores of 83 for the qualifying round.

The cards of Black and Horseley were:

Columbus captured the team trophy with an aggregate score of 347, while the Fort Benning team registered second, trailing the local golfers by two strokes. The Brookhaven club team, of Atlanta, was third in the list with a score of 352.

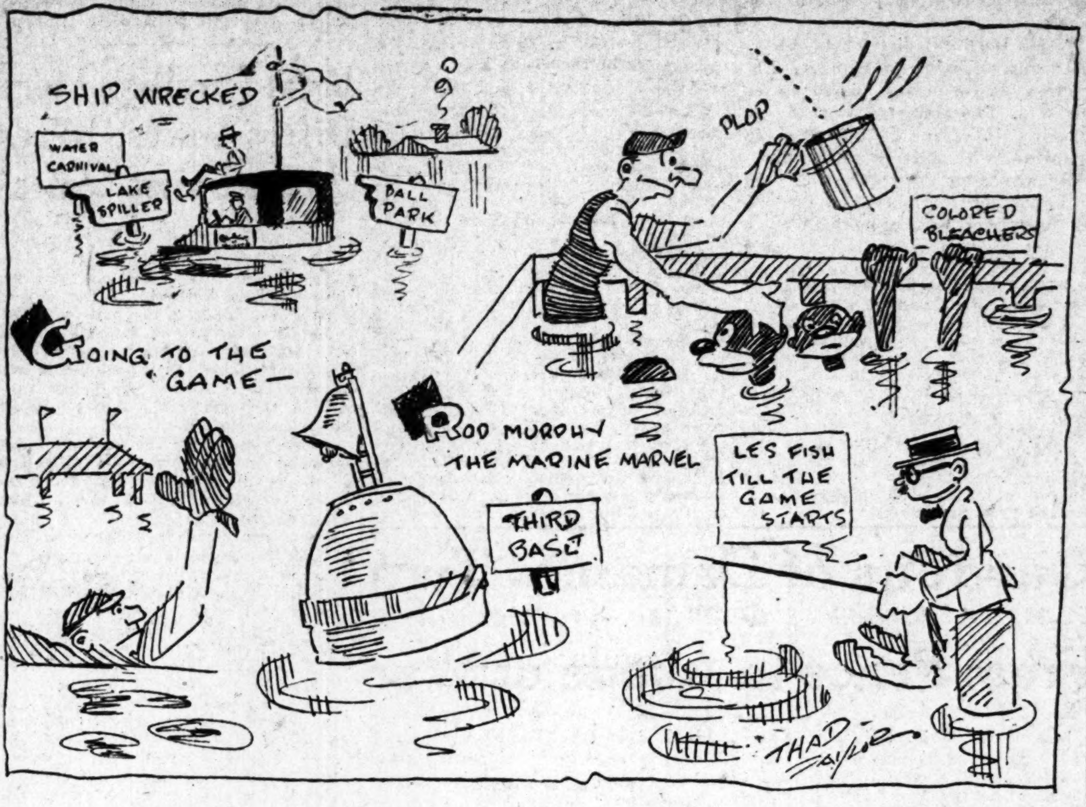
SAD CATASTROPHE HITS CRACKERS

UNCLE WILBUR SEIZED BY CRAMPS

AS THEY LOSE AT WATER POLO



BY DICK HAWKINS.

All was serene on Spiller Lake as the Atlanta Crackers and the Nashville Volunteers donned their trusty Bradleys and prepared for the third game of their series.

The bell buoys which marked the bases were placed in position and the Crackers took to the water to defend their position in the league against the strong swimmers of Nashville.

Steamboat Johnson, feeling completely at home in the water, climbed into his barges and took his position behind the raft at the home station.

"Swim at once," he chirped in his usual kindly tone, and the game was on.

Redfern, batting first for the Volunteers, seemed to experience some trouble with his paddle but after he had whiffed at two in rapid succession he did hit one on the nose and it splashed directly in front of Skipper Niehoff. The skipper disappeared from sight as the apple hit the water and the fans who crowded Spiller's ark cried for a put out. Redfern struck out for first with a free breast stroke and it looked like a safe bingle for the visiting infielder.

Then just as the opposing shortstop came within three strokes of the initial corner a dripping hand clutching the ball appeared above the waves and the groping mitts of Rod Murphy clutched the skipper and pulled him aboard the buoy.

Bick Campbell treaded water and sent one hand high above his head, indicating that the hitter was out at first and the fans roared as the life guard pulled the sputtering Redfern back to the dugout, a defeated and nearly drowned man.

Ruble then took his position on the raft and Hollis McLaughlin, digging his spikes into the bottom, hurled a dripping curve toward Johnny Brock, who was standing on a submerged pier to keep his head above water.

The pellet skimmed its way toward the waiting basket held by Johnny but alas, it never reached its destination. Amid a burst of spray Ruble started for first as the ball sailed high over the head of Durocher and headed for the houseboat in left field where the colored fans were watching the water carnival.

It looked like a home run but little did the fans reckon the uncanny ability of Tommy Griffith as a swimmer. As the ball sailed into the air Tommy started for the houseboat with a strong trudgeon stroke and reaching the edge of the roof by throwing himself from the water like a trapped tarpon he clambered to the ridgepole just as the ball came drifting down from the sky. At first it looked like the home run was nipped but then the fans noticed that Tommy was not equipped with a glove with which to make the catch. A groan rose from the ark but again Tommy demonstrated the advantage of many years in professional baseball and showed himself to be prepared for any emergency. From the hip pocket of his bathing suit he took the water bucket which he had been hiding for just such an emergency and when the ball fell it sank with a splash—into the waiting bucket of Tommy Griffith.

The effort of this great catch was too much for Tommy and he failed to hear the thundering applause of the hundred thousand fans as he fainted across the ridge pole.

After the stalwart left fielder had been revived by artificial respiration and had resumed his position on the sand bar in what was once the left field garden, the fans turned their attention to Kimmick, Volunteer player who has charge of the bell buoy in the hot corner.

He took his place on the raft and swung at the first ball pitched. He missed, and his swing was so vigorous that he toppled and fell from the raft, only to be pulled back by the gaff hook in the hands of Steamboat Johnson, whose experience aboard steamships had taught him to be prepared for such an occurrence.

Kimmick also swung vigorously at the second ball, but missed, and then took time out to remove his water-wings, which seemed to impede his swing. This action brought a great huzzah as the fans realized that the man was willing to risk his life in the chilly water rather than strike out.

The removal of the safety device had its effect and the third ball pitched cracked on the paddle and sailed away toward the scoreboard, where Mule Haas waited ready to stroke in pursuit.

Immediately it became apparent that the great swimming power of the "Mule" would be taxed to the limit to reach the ball before it went for a home run. He dove gracefully and started to swim under water in the direction of the scoreboard with the idea of emerging from the water in time to trap the falling pellet.

One minute passed—the ball had fallen near the scoreboard and the ripples caused by its fall had spread and faded out on the surface of the water, but still the head of Mule failed to appear. Another minute and one waving arm appeared above the surface, then disappeared again beneath the waves. By this time Arbiter Johnson had mounted his speed boat and, gaff hook in hand, was speeding to the rescue of the seemingly helpless Mule.

He arrived at the score board in time to drive away the batboy shark which had clutched the swimmer by the seat of his bathing uniform but Kimmick, who had again donned his water wings after hitting the ball, was seated safely on the raft—one home run to his credit and the Nashville Volunters leading by one score.

Then long, lean McLarry, keeper of the first buoy for the Nashville outfit, clambered aboard the raft, clad in his orange and pink uniform and took his stance. The first pitch he fouled and it sailed over the grandstand into the river which once had been Ponce de Leon avenue. The second heave he missed but the third cracked from his wood and went skipping over the surface of the lake past Rod Murphy and into deep right field, where Wilbur Good sat on the bank under a varicolored beach umbrella playing solitaire.

Uncle Wilbur girted up his trunks and dove into the foam with a sweeping left-hand stroke, deceiving in its easy speed. In a few seconds he reached the ball, drew back his arm to throw, then an expression of pain appeared on his kindly face and he disappeared beneath the surface of the water. To all it was apparent that Uncle Wilbur had been taken with a cramp and an emergency call was sent in for the ambulance.

The clang of the ambulance bell mingled with the cries of the fans and —we awoke to a scene of blissful repose in the press box. Ed Danforth was snoring audibly with official score book tucked under his raincoat, Captain Guy Butler's head was bobbing back and forth in quiet slumber and outside IT WAS STILL RAINING.

Jim Attreau, Cuban first-sacker for Norfolk, can lay claim to being the speediest first baseman in captivity based on his stolen bases, which total 46.

Herb Hall, of Denver, hasn't lost a game on the home grounds this season and he rolled up his nineteenth victory the other day.

PRESSTOURNEY TROPHY LIST GROWING FAST

With the newspaper men of Atlanta impatiently awaiting the cessation of rain in order to begin practice on the West End golf course prior to entrance in the fourth estate tournament, business houses and individuals are responding in fine style to the call for trophies.

Mike Thomas, of the Georgian, chairman of the prize committee, and Dunbar Hair, of the Journal, general chairman of the golf committee, announce that their efforts to obtain prizes to be given winners of the various flights, have met with complete cooperation on the part of merchants and individuals interviewed.

Contributions received Thursday are announced as follows:

The Dinkler hotels, through Carling Dinkler, president, a handsome silver cup.

George Muse Clothing company, an expensive silver cup.

Mayor Walter A. Sims, candidate for congress from the fifth Georgia district, a handsome trophy for a flight winner.

Southeastern Express company, two Spalding Kro-Flight wood clubs.

WILLS READY TO MEET JACK, SAYS MULLINS

Chicago, July 29.—(AP)—Harry Wills, negro heavyweight boxer, is ready to fight Jack Dempsey for the world championship "tomorrow or next week or any other time," his manager, Paddy Mullins, declared today.

Mullins arrived to confer with the Chicago Coliseum club and its president, B. C. Clements, about the meeting of Wills and Dempsey tentatively scheduled for Chicago in mid-September. Mullins said his charge has been working out for 10 days at Southampton, L. I.

If the Illinois Boxing commission sanctions the proposed match, Wills will come to Chicago in August, Mullins said, regardless what course is taken by Dempsey, who has declared Clements' contract with him void and asserted he would not fight for anybody but Tex Rickard.

The contract was signed by the negro at Niles, Mich., almost a year ago, and assigned to the Coliseum club through a South Bend syndicate. Wills has received $50,000 in advance and Dempsey is to get $300,000 on August 5.

Jockeys Selected For Leading Colts In American Derby

Famous Names Are Among List of Riders To Enter Big Race—Alfred Johnson Will Ride Boot To Boot For Bradley.

(By Leased Wire to The Constitution and Chicago Tribune.)

Chicago, July 29.—The jockeys for seven probable starters in Saturday's $100,000 American Derby at Washington Park had been selected tonight and an eleventh-hour change put Johnny Maiben, veteran from New York, instead of Everett Barnes, on Display.

Maiben was astride Display in his most notable triumph, the Preakness stakes at Pimlico last spring, and according to Trainer T. J. Healy, the big son of Fair Play runs better for Maiben than for any other jockey. Barnes tried to make him win the Coney Island derby Saturday but failed, running second to Crusader.

Seven starters at the most was the indication for the derby field by jockey assignments. Alfred Johnson arrived during the day to ride Boot-to-Boot; Willie Stamper was engaged to handle Bolton, stablemate of Smiling Gus which has Earl Poole for a pilot. Howard Elston will ride Open Hand, the derby dark horse. David L. will have L. Schaefer as his pilot. Denny Bruening will try to bring Black Maria, the only filly in the big race, home.

Much Support.

Despite the absence of numerous stars, the race within the last 24 hours has developed into a contest which has created no end of interest with three of the candidates, Display, Black Maria and Boot-to-Boot, all mustering much support.

While Display and Black Maria were engaging in their last derby training gallops today Boot-to-Boot came in from his triumphant trip to Cleveland where he captured the Ohio derby at Maple Heights. He was unloaded in good condition and Jockey Alfred Johnson, who rode him in the Ohio event, has high hopes of his taking the measure of Display and Black Maria, Saturday.

Display's final gallop was over the full derby distance of a mile and a half and he accomplished his task handily in 2:35 1-5, while Black Maria just breezed the same route in 2:38 3-5. Of the two rehearsals the one turned in by Black Maria was considered the most impressive but neither was allowed to go in for speed.

The failure of Crusader, Blondin, Bagenbaggage and other stars to get to the post will probably have its effect on the derby day attendance which officials of the Illinois Jockey club predicted a week ago would run higher than 50,000. The Jockey club officials are still confident they will entertain the biggest turf crowd in recent years here.

All box seats have been sold for more than two weeks, it was announced, and sections of the grandstand have been blocked off and reserved. Seats are being sold there speedily. Carpenters worked throughout last night in a last desperate effort to have the clubhouse completed but their task seemed to be a huge one and while the verandas and parts of the new building will be ready for occupancy it will not be complete in every detail.

Crackers and Volunteers in Double-Header Today

Markle and Cavet Probable Moundsmen In Twin-Bill Today

Niehoffians Schedule Double-Header After Rain Halts Third Game Thursday — Crackers Now On Even Terms With Vols in Series.

If the elements will "stay put" and cease their teternal deluge, the Atlanta Crackers and the Nashville Volunteers will meet again today in a twin bill at Spiller park down Ponce de Leon way.

Coming from behind to win a 10-inning nightmare in the first game Wednesday the Spillerites evened the count with the Tennesseans by bowing to Pitcher Osborne in the second fracas. This leaves the Crackers even with the visitors in the present series, which is scheduled to be of six games duration counting the double bill of Wednesday.

Niehoff's club will play here today and tomorrow and go to Nashville Sunday for a Sabbath contest, after which they will return to Spiller park for eight more games.

The stick work of the Crackers in the twin battle Wednesday left much to be desired, but that can't keep up forever, and with a long string of games on the home lot, Spiller's homelings have a fine chance to take a firm grip on a first-division birth by the time they leave for the next road trip.

Just who will pitch the two games for the locals today is problematical. Three pitchers were used on Wednesday, and it is probable that Pug Cavet, the long, lanky portsider, and Cliff Markle, diminutive curve pitcher, will get assignments with Ruel Love in reserve in case such succor is needed.

The first game will be called today at 2:15.

Wyatt Sets Mark In Aquatic Dash

Philadelphia, Pa., July 29.—(AP)—Paul Wyatt, of the Uniontown (Pa.) Y. M. C. A., won the 220-yard backstroke title in the National A. A. U. swimming championships in the sesqui-centennial pool today.

Walter Laufer, Cincinnati Y. M. C. A., 1925 champion, was second, two yards behind Wyatt. Warren Kealoha, Hui Makani club, Honolulu, was third.

The time, 2:45 4-5, will be entered as a new American record, as no present record exists for the distance.

Arne Borg carried the tri-color of the Illinois A. C. to a new world's record in winning the 880 free-style title. He swam the half mile in 10:38 2-3, bettering his own record of 10:43 3-5, made at Honolulu in 1924.

The former Swedish aquatic ace won by 30 yards, with his teammate, Johnny Weissmuller, second, and H. S. Clancy, Philadelphia, unattached, third.

SHOWER HALTS HELEN WILLS AT MAIDSTONE

Maidstone Tennis Club, East Hampton, Long Island.—July 29.—One of Long Island's lazy summer rains broke a very good program here today and forced postponement of the aristocratic and exclusive tournament in which Helen Wills, the national champion, is making her return to the court.

The committe in charge, optimistic even in the face of a weather report that said two days of rain threatened, hoped to continue the tournament Friday morning with a 10:45 o'clock match between Miss Wills and Mrs. Frederick Schmitz.

The young American champion was disappointed because of the postponement.

"I never felt better and I wanted to play today," Miss Wills said. "I know after my first test yesterday in competition that I will be able to play through at Forest Hills in the national championship. As to the result, I don't know."

Miss Wills said she was going to play in the singles next week at the Seabright tournament and might play in the mixed doubles.

"I want to play at Seabright with "Bud" Chandler, as I prefer California partners," Helen said.

Chandler is the inter-collegiate champion and a classmate of Miss Wills at the University of California.

She also announced she would play in the national women's doubles with Mrs. Hazel Hotchkiss Wightman. Her partner of 1924, when they won the Olympic and the national doubles championships.

INDIANS WIN THIRD STRAIGHT.

Cleveland, July 29.—Cleveland made it three straight from Philadelphia and 12 out of 15 from that team for the season, when it came from behind today to win, 3 to 2.

The Athletics scored two in the first inning when Barbee, a rookie from the Piedmont, tripled in his first time at bat in a major league game, Welsh and Simmons preceding him with singles.

Cleveland scored one in the fourth on a double by Speaker and singles by J. Sewell and Summa, while it counted two more in the eighth on a pass to Speaker and doubles by Burns and J. Sewell. Catcher Perkins, of the Athletics, was put out of the game by Umpire Hildebrand for arguing that Sewell's double was a foul ball.

Pitchers cut a big swath in the Tulsa-Lincoln game Monday. Stewart Bolen, for Tulsa, let Lincoln down with one hit, although he walked eight. Pitcher Harty, of Lincoln, had nine assists.

Jack Dempsey Last of Long Term Champs

New York, July 29.—(AP)—Dethronement of four ring titleholders in the last two months makes Jack Dempsey the last of the modern long-term champions.

He has reigned seven years among the heavyweights. Long survivor of a line of monarchs who held sway anywhere from three to fourteen years, he will face a crucial test with Gene Tunney, promised here on September 16. He will return to the battleground after a three-year absence and at a time when the span of the active division titleholder is a little more than one year.

The junior lightweight mantle has been torn from the shoulders of champions four times since the class was established for Johnny Dundee less than four years ago; five light-heavyweight kings have been crowned since the division was revived for the benefit of Battling Levinsky in 1920; two lightweight chieftains have come and gone since Benny Leonard relinquished the scepter two years ago; seven changes have marked the struggle for bantamweight honors in the last half dozen years.

Ted Blankenship Fractures Thumb

Chicago, July 29.—Ted Blankenship, one of the young pitching stars of Eddie Collins' hurling staff, will be out of the game for the remainder of the season, as a result of a fractured right thumb, broken in the sixth inning of the game with Washington today when he stopped a hot liner off Buddy Myer's bat.

Blankenship has hurled brilliantly for the Sox this year, having won 10 games. He was developed into a winning pitcher last year by Chief Bender, and won 16 games in the last half of the season.

The full extent of his injury was not determined until he had been taken to the hospital.

Yankees Claim Pickinpaugh

St. Louis, July 29.—(AP)—A claim for Roger Peckinpaugh, veteran Washington shortstop, on whom waivers were asked several days ago, has been filed by the New York Yankees, Manager Miller Huggins announced today. Peck saw service with the Yankees before going to Washington, where last year he was chosen as the American league's "most valuable player."

Huggins denied that he had put in a bid for Harry McCurdy, catcher, on whom the Chicago White Sox have asked waivers.

Glommen Is Winner Of Goodwood Race

Goodwood Park, England, July 29. (AP)—Sol Joel's Glommen, by Pommern out of Lady Gladys, won the Goodwood cup, run here today.

Spiller May Construct New Baseball Stadium

A new and greater baseball park for the Atlanta Crackers looms out of the announcement made Thursday afternoon by R. J. Spiller, new owner of the Atlanta baseball club, in which he stated that he had an option on 12 acres adjacent to the present ball park on the north side.

In announcing the obtaining of the option on the land, Mr. Spiller stated that he had many reasons for acquiring the land. Should the present park be disposed of he stated that a new and bigger stand would be erected on the new site and should he retain the present park he will in all probability build a huge parking space for the automobiles of baseball fans which will be accessible from all directions. There is also another possibility, however, of him erecting a mammoth amusement park on the new acreage.

He stated, fourthly, that he may purchase the land and hold it as an investment.

Mr. Spiller would make no definite announcement as to the future plans for the present baseball park, however, but stated that several large business houses had shown much interest in the property and had made overtures for it. He would make no further statement as to what might develop.

Spiller, who owns the land and park on which the Crackers play, recently obtained the 23-year lease from Dan Michalove, former owner of the baseball club. He also obtained the Southern league franchise of the Atlanta club.

Because "It's Toasted"

LUCKY STRIKES are made from the world's finest Turkish and domestic tobaccos, perfectly blended.

Besides this supreme quality of leaf tobacco as compared with all other cigarettes—"IT'S TOASTED".

Just what does this mean—this phrase, "IT'S TOASTED"?

The tobacco is oven toasted at very high heats for 45 minutes; then chilled with the moisture completely restored. The toasting brings out the hidden flavors of the superbly fine tobacco. The chilling seals in these flavors; seals in, too, the moisture that has been restored. It all acts like a cold plunge on the pores of the body.

That's why LUCKIES taste so good. Why LUCKIES are always fresh when they come to you. Why millions prefer this uniquely fine cigarette.

HunterBeats Tiger Jr., By Judges Decision

While his champion brother looked on Young Tiger Flowers went down to defeat last night before the onslaught of Happy Hunter in the fifth round of their scheduled ten-round battle at the Paramount theater on Auburn avenue.

Perhaps it would be better to state that Young Tiger walked out of the bout in the fifth round, for that is exactly what happened. The Tiger strove valiantly to box his way over the advantage of weight and experience held by his opponent, but all he succeeded in doing was to get in the way of Hunter's fists. Tiger declared that Hunter was wrestling and refused to come back to the battle in the fifth and the judges had nothing to do but award the decision to Happy.

Young Tiger showed the makings of a great fighter, but he was overmatched in his bout last night and his opponent had the advantage of about 12 pounds in weight.

Kid Macon, fighting at 130 pounds, gave Kid Thomas, 140-pound mauler, such a lacing in the first round of the semi-windup that Thomas failed to appear for the second round and Macon was awarded a technical knockout.

Battling Kennon, the human beanpole, danced and boxed his way to a decision over Jack Cooper, though the latter outweighed him by about 40 pounds. Kennon is a great boxer and his heavy opponent was almost helpless throughout the bout.

Three fast preliminaries and a battle royal opened the card which was the most successful ever staged by Billy Hooper. Tiger Flowers, middleweight champion of the world, refereed all of the bouts except the main go and in that fracas he officiated in his brother's corner.

BRITISH STARS WILL NOT PLAY IN U. S. MEET

New York, July 29.—(AP)—Mrs. Kitty McKane Godfree and Miss Evelyn Colyer, stars of British tennis, will be unable to appear in the American championships at Forest Hills next month, the United States Lawn Tennis association is advised.

The association also announced today that the French Davis cup team, expected to comprise Rene La Coste, Henru Cochet, Jean Borotra and Jacques Brugnon, would sail for New York August 11. This quartet is regarded as the strongest to visit the United States since Anthony Wilding and Norman E. Brooks came from Australia in 1914 to win the international trophy by three matches to two.

France will meet either Japan or Cuba in the interzone final at Forest Hills August 26, 27 and 28.

It doesn't happen very often, but Baltimore was shut out twice in one day by Jersey City.

MISS COLLET, MISS ORCUTT REACH FINALS

Eastern Point, Conn., July 29.—(AP) Miss Glenna Collett, national champion, and Miss Maureen Orcutt, metropolitan champion, today won their matches in the semi-finals of the eighth annual women's invitation golf tournament for the Griswold trophy, which has been won by Miss Collett the last three years.

The national champion had a fairly easy time in disposing of Mrs. F. E. Dubois, Port Chester, N. Y., veteran, 5 and 4. The other match, more vigorously contested, was won on the home green from Mrs. J. S. Cassriel, Chicago, former Illinois champion, 1 up.

Both matches went the first eight holes in a rain which made the greens slow and accounted for the two or three putts required to sink the ball on several greens.

Finals in all flights of the tournament, which attracted 250 entrants, will come tomorrow.

Savannah Buys Outfielder Flynn

Savannah, Ga., July 29.—(AP)—The Savannah Indians' new owner, John Fogarty, today closed a deal for the purchase of Outfielder Flynn, leading batter of the Southeastern league, from the Montgomery club.

While the purchase price was not given, it is known it involved quite a bit of money, Flynn being regarded as one of the heaviest hitters in the south. He is now hitting .468 for Montgomery. He plays left field.

Mr. Fogarty announced that Flynn would be in the Savannah lineup tomorrow. The new player was formerly with the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Baseball Heads In Meet Today

Toledo, Ohio, July 29.—(AP)—The officials of the National Baseball federation will gather here tomorrow in their semi-annual meeting.

The principal topic under discussion will be that of the playing rules under which the national tourney will be played in Philadelphia during the early part of September.

About 50 delegates from all cities on the circuit are expected for the meeting. New Haven, Waterbury, New York, Baltimore, Washington, Pittsburgh, Philadelphia, Detroit, Cleveland, Memphis, Erie, Indianapolis, Boston and other cities will probably send representatives.

S. S. A. A. DOPE

Gorman, of Druid Hills Presbyterians, continues to show the way to the stick artists in the National baseball league of the Sunday School Athletic association. The race for batting honors in the National loop has been close all the way, but Gorman has gradually pulled away from his rivals and now has a commanding lead. Barker, of Pryor Street, and Garrison, of Edgewood Baptists, are second and third in the order named.

In the American loop, Hardin, of Jackson Hill, has a small lead over Edmondson, of Epworth Workers, with Martin, of Jackson Hill, a close third.

M. Harper, of Druid Hills, is topping the National league hurlers with an average of .722 hits per inning, and seems to have almost cinched the gold baseball as the leading hurler in his league. Cook, of Log Cabin; Irwin, of Anchor Class, and Fauss, of Pryor Street, however, continue to pitch in their usual good style, and they are not far from the top.

Wilkerson, of Gordon Street, and Still, of the same team, are on top of the heap in the American circuit. Hartsell and McCrorey, both of Westminster, are close behind.

None of the leaders added to their home-run records, and as a result Gulledge, of Westminster, and Williams, of Central Presbyterians, are still tied with three each in the American league, while A. Hubert, of Pryor Street, with three to his credit, is topping the circuit clouters in the National league.

New York, July 29.—(AP)—The cotton market today furnished another display of underlying strength and made a new high record for the season, with all positions but December at or above the 18-cent level. At the extreme advance the market was 15 to 20 points net higher but the close was off under realizing, and only 2 to 10 points net higher.

Most of the upturn came in the afternoon when Wall street interests and New Orleans were large buyers. The opening was rather quiet and only 1 point lower to 1 point higher, and before the upturn began the market sagged off 3 to 7 points under the previous close, with October at 17.78 and January at 17.77.

The drop was checked by indications that the tropical storm had caused heavy rains in Georgia and the Carolinas which were confirmed in later advices reporting five or six inches in some places. This more than offset the clearing weather in the southwest and promoted a buying movement that continued with little intermission throughout the balance of the day until just before the close when realizing developed.

Increased strength and activity was reported both in southern spot markets and in local cotton goods circles, adding to the aggressiveness of bull interests who were also influenced by estimates that early ginning figures this year, because of the lateness of the crop, will be very much under those of the same time last year.

October and December contracts were sold by spot traders during the day, believed to represent the placing of hedges against spot cotton purchased last week from southwestern cooperatives. The report was that two large spot firms, one in Texas and the other in South Carolina, had bought around 100,000 bales from the farmer's organizations, practically clearing up their stocks.

SPOTS IN NEW YORK.

New York, July 29.—(AP)—Cotton, spot, steady; middling 19.35.

MARKET ACTIVE IN NEW ORLEANS.

New Orleans, La., July 29.—(AP)—The cotton market was moderately active and price fluctuations showed a moderate range. The weather and crop news continued to dominate the course of values. Owing to rather lower cables than due and to continued fair weather in the western and central belts, prices eased off 7 to 9 points in the first hour of trading, but later the heavy rains in the eastern belt resulting from the movement inland of the tropical storm caused prices to rally on covering and more or less trade buying until in the early afternoon prices showed gains of 23 to 28 points above the lows and 14 to 21 points above the previous close.

The market turned rather easier in the final hour on realizing and selling induced by cabled information that the Calcutta Chamber of Commerce had advised dealers against forward purchases of cotton goods for the next few months. Most of the gain in values was lost, the close showing a net loss of 4 points on October and net gains of 3 to 7 points on later positions.

First trades showed no change to 3 points decline and prices eased off in the early trading until October traded at 17.64 and December at 17.50 or 7 to 9 points below the previous close. These were the low points of the day.

The subsequent rally mainly on the rains in the western belt caused October to trade up to 17.87 and December to 17.78, or 23 to 28 points above the lows of the morning. From these high points prices eased off in the final hour about 18 points.

Exports for the day totaled 5,687 bales.

SPOTS IN NEW ORLEANS.

New Orleans, July 29.—(AP)—Spot cotton closed steady, 4 points down. Sales 1,168. Low middling 15.44; middling 18.69; good middling 19.34. Receipts 2,253; stock 163,925.

Phelan Keeps Silent On Tunney License

Peekskill, N. Y., July 29.—(AP)—Until Colonel John J. Phelan, head of the license committee of the state athletic commission, returns to New York August 11, he will not rule on Gene Tunney's personal application to fight Jack Dempsey, he told Tunney today.

Colonel Phelan and Tunney, both veterans of the American expeditionary forces, were in conference for an hour, and the boxer, who seeks permission to fight for the heavyweight championship at the Yankee stadium, New York, September 16, came from the discussion with a smile and expressed confidence in the outcome.

The license committee, which will not act until Colonel Phelan and the old "fighting Sixty-Ninth" return to New York from their two weeks encampment, has the key to the situation, the state athletic commission having accepted Tex Rickard's proposal to stage the 15-round contest.

After the conference Colonel Phelan said: "I have made no decision regarding Tunney's application and will make none until I am back at my office in New York. If Gene Tunney proves his eligibility he will receive his license."

Tunney was the guest of all the officers of the regiment today. He was welcomed by every soldier down to the "buck," shaking hands all around in a tour of the camp.

Immediately after the conference he left for his Saratoga camp, where he intends to work a few days before taking up his abode at Lake Pleasant, N. Y., for the rigorous training that will prepare him for his effort to gain the heavyweight crown.

Downcast Wins At Thistledown

New York, July 29.—(AP)—Downcast surprised in the inaugural feature of the Thistledown track today by beating King Nadia a neck over 6 furlongs. Corinth was third, three lengths behind. The time was 1:15 1-5.

Pony McAtee guided Noah to victory in the $3,000 Fleetwing handicap at Empire City, the six furlongs being covered in 1:08 4-5. Mino was second and Superlette third, with Lachen unplaced.

Another 6-furlong event feature at Coney Island went to Joe Marrone, followed by T. S. Jordan and Fireon. The time there was 1:12 1-5.

Homewood's mile event was captured by Beneficient in 1:38 2-5, with Dark Phantom second and Inbounds third.

Bucky Harris accounted for the fifth at Blue Bonnets, running the mile in 1:40, followed by Tamarind and Port Royal.

The Kentucky racing commission announced the following dates: Raceland, September 1-11, inclusive, by Dake Park (Evansville), 6-11, inclusive.

Hume and Burke In Golf Finals

Lexington, Ky., July 29.—(AP)—The most startling upset in the Kentucky open golf tournament being played on the Ashland club course here occurred in the semi-finals today when William Burke, youthful Danville pro, defeated Craig Woods, Louisville club pro, and favorite, to capture the championship one up.

Alvey Hume, Standard club pro, won the other semi-final from Bob Craigs, Louisville, 5 and 4, having led from the start.

The Burke-Woods match was sensational all the way, Woods having to play an uphill game only to miss a four-foot putt on the final green to lose the match.

Hume and Burke will meet tomorrow in a 36-hole final.

15 Power Boats Slated for Race

Port Washington, N. Y., July 29.—(AP)—Fifteen sleek power boats, six more than started in last year's contest, have been entered for the 1926 gold cup race, classic feature of the gold cup regatta to be held in Manhasset bay off here August 21 and 22.

The entry list is headed by Caleb S. Bragg's Baby Bootlegger, winner of the trophy for the past two years. Five other boats that figured in last year's 90-mile test also are entered, among them Mrs. Delphine Dodge Cromwell's Nuisance, Carl Fisher's Baby Shadow, put out of the 1925 race when it caught fire while leading, and Impshi and Solar Plexus, owned by Horace E. Dodge, of Detroit, who has four entries altogether.

Other entries include two representing the Detroit Yacht club, one each from the Indian Harbor Yacht club (Connecticut); Forrest Adair, of Sarasota, Fla., and Wagg and Bigelow, of Palm Beach, Fla.

HEAVY TAXATION BLAMED FOR SALE OF NOTED PAINTING

London, July 29.—(AP)—Heavy taxation is blamed by Sir William Bromley-Davenport for the sale of the famous Romney portrait of his great-grandmother, Lady Davenport, to Duveen Brothers for $281,300.

"The utterly appalling character of modern taxation," he said today, "makes it quite impossible to live in big houses under the old conditions, and such sales are inevitable. The picture has been a prized family possession since 1782, and modern conditions alone led to its sale."

In peculiar contrast to the sale of the Lady Davenport portrait yesterday, was the sale today of another Romney portrait—of John Wesley—which brought only six guineas.

It is asserted by the Duveens that no purchaser is in sight here for the Davenport Romney, but that it probably will be sold in America.

PRICES IRREGULAR ON CURB MARKET

New York, July 29.—(AP)—Uneven price movements again characterized today's curb market, with speculative interest confined to relative few issues. Public participation continued at low ebb, the day's total transactions again falling below 300,000 shares.

Oil shares failed to respond to reports of improved market conditions for gasoline, although prices held relatively steady. Borne Scrymser, which ordinarily changes hands in small lots, jumped 6 points to a new peak at 290 and National Fuel & Gas jumped 8 points on one sale of ten shares, but the more active issues showed only fractional changes.

As a group the public utilities were moderately active on a revival of merger reports and rumors of increased dividends.

The American Gas & Electric approached within a fraction of its year's high and then lost all its gain. Electric investors closed a point higher.

New peak prices in the industrial list by Aluminum Company of America, Blaw Knox, Caterpillar Traction and Warner B. Pictures were offset by sales at 1926 low records of American Rayon products, Standard Publishing and tobacco products export. Motors were quiet. Outside of a drop of 1 1-2 points in Continental Baking A, the baking shares showed little change.

Another brisk demand for Golden Center Mines, which duplicated the year's high, was the only development of consequence in the mining group.

Total stock sales 2,407,800 shares.

New York, July 29.—(AP)—Establishment of new high records for all time by General Motors, common, at 191 1-8 and United States Steel, common, at 146 1-8, representing extreme gains of 12 1-8 and 3 1-8 points, respectively, monopolized speculative interest in today's active stock market. Total transactions in these two issues approximate 525,000 shares, or nearly one-fourth of the day's entire volume of business. About a dozen other stocks rallied 2 to nearly 10 points but the general market disclosed considerable irregularity, the average of 20 leading railroad shares showing a small loss on the day.

Seldom in recent Wall street history has the stock exchange witnessed an exhibition of buying power such as that which has taken place in the last few weeks in what are regarded as the two premier industrial stocks. Individual transactions ranging from 1,000 to 5,000 shares have been frequent, with the daily turnover this week averaging more than 200,000 shares in General Motors alone. In the absence of any authoritative information the financial district looks for cutting of a substantial "melon" by both companies, as current earnings are far in excess of present dividend requirements, with each corporation possessing an enormous surplus.

The prospect of stock split-ups is also believed to be behind the rise in such issues as Allied Chemical, Dupont and Texas Gulf Sulphur, the first named scoring an extreme gain of over 6 points while the last two broke through to ne wpeak prices. Pools also were active in some of the lower priced issues such as American Can, Nash Motors and Timken Roller Bearing, but speculative cliques in many other stocks were reported to have either restricted or suspended operations until the market for some of the high-priced industrial specialties quieted down.

Outside the stock market, one of the most important developments of the day was a rally of about 3 cents a bushel in wheat prices, based on unfavorable weather reports and an advance in Liverpool quotations.

Call money ruled unchanged, with plenty of funds still available, and the New York federel reserve rediscount rate continued unchanged, for another week at least, at 3 1-2 per cent. While the advance in United States Steel common was not associated with anything in the day's news, the report that mill operations had increased 2 per cent this week, bringing them to around 89 per cenet of capacity, had bullish effect on sentiment.

Heavy profit taking and sporadic bear selling took place in several sections of the list under the cover of strength in the high-priced industrials. Net declines of 2 points or more were registered by about a dozen issues including Atlantic, Gulf & West Indies, Burroughs Adding Machine, Davison Chemical, Foundation Company, Gulf States Steel and Shubert Theaters.

Outside of wheat, the commodity markets attracted little attention. Cotton futures advanced 2 to 10 points with the distant options touching new high levels for the season. Raw sugar was unchanged and coffee prices were slightly lower.

Foreign exchanges held fairly steady in quiet trading, demand sterling ruling around $4.85 3-4 and French francs around 2.40 cents.

Sixty Per Cent Dividend Seen for General Motors Stock This Year by Friends of Duponts.

New York, July 29.—Excitement in the stock market reached the point today where brokers ate their luncheon at their desks. General Motors was again the star performer, creating more excitement and feverishness than has been experienced in Wall street in days. This stock, which again overshadowed the entire market, opened at 181 against last night's close of 179 and before noon made a new high at 188 1-2 on an enormous volume of trading.

Some of the old-timers in Wall street declared excitedly that there was nothing that could explain the action of General Motors except frantic short covering, adding confidentially that if insiders had not used the heavy outstanding short interest in this stock the last few days to take profits, the price would have shot up to $250 a share. A more acceptable explanation heard in bank parlor gossip has to do with a special meeting of General Motors finance committee held late yesterday at which the decision was reached to recommend a 50 per cent stock dividend at the regular meeting of directors August 12.

It is worth keeping in mind during all this excitement about General Motors that the company earned $17 a share for its stock during the first half of 1926; that the president of the company stated yesterday that on June 30 the balance sheet showed $195,000,000 in cash and marketable securities; that DuPont owns 26 per cent of General Motors stock; that several prominent officials of the DuPont company are members of the finance committee; that General Motors is expected to earn not less than $30 a share this year on its stock.

Huge Dividend Seen.

Well-known men here in Wall street known to be close to the DePonts are telling their friends that General Motors will earn this year between $30,000,000 and $35,000,000 for dividends and pay out 60 per cent of this in dividends, this to include the expected stock dividend.

If this gossip proves to be correct no great amount of imagination is required to see Steel common assume leadership of the market after General Motors on August 12 declares a large stock dividend. A stock dividend for General Motors next month will start speculative Wall street to discounting a stock dividend for Steel common at the October meeting of the Steel corporation directors.

Since June 9, the day before the Steel corporation gave out its unfilled order statement, Steel common is up some 10 points, whereas General Motors is up nearly 60 points.

Since June 9 something like $240,000,000 has been added to the stock market value of General Motors. Careful people in Wall street are shaking their heads sidewise and saying General Motors has been advancing too fast. Others say that on June 9 General Motors was selling too low and that this mistake is now being corrected.

Those still bullish on General Motors are pointing out that the Morgan firm made a bid for Dodge stock equal to eight times the 1924 earnings of the Dodge company and that the successful Dillon Read syndicate bid eight times the estimated 1925 earnings. On this basis it is figured that insiders in General Motors including the Morgans and the DuPonts know what they are doing in figuring the present market value of General Motors based on actual earnings.

Wall street figures DuPont shares should be getting some reflected glory from the $280,000,000 recently added to the market value of General Motors.

Long On Stocks.

People in Wall street who follow the stock market closely felt certain from the way the market was acting that money could be made by going long of stocks as soon as the market throws off the effects of disappointment over failure of the Steel corporation directors to declare an extra cash or stock dividend. Steel common did open down a half point yesterday morning on the news that only the regular dividend had been declared but then advanced 4 points showing that disappointment was short lived and also that those who thought the market could be bought were correct in their judgment.

But making money by going long of stocks as soon as the market turned was not easy, at least for the average trader. It depended entirely on which stock was bought whether or not money was made.

In yesterday's market, the first after the Steel meeting, the total turnover was 1,642,000 shares. Over 500 different issues were traded in. But General Motors made up 234,000 of the total; Steel common 157,000; American Can, 116,000; Dodge, 40,000; Hudson, 33,000. Trading in all other shares was very light.

The price swing in Steel common was from a low of 139 1-2 to 143 3-8; in General Motors from 172 1-8 to 179 3-8; in Can from 58 3-8 to 61 1-4. From all indications big men are making the market in General Motors and Steel common, based on very satisfactory current earnings of these companies with prospects of extra dividends. From all indications these big men, trading in General Motors and Steel common, know what they are doing and have a steady hand in doing it. But the average trader is not gaited to play along with these big men in these high-priced stocks. The wide temporary breaks occur as rapidly as the advance. It's like a "dub" golfer playing with professionals for $50 a hole.

In trying to make money in General Motors and Steel common the average trader, through fear and nervousness, defeats himself at the very beginning of the game. His judgment is nerve and musclebound. The big men start with a big block of stock, take a quick loss if the wrong time for starting has been selected, then buy another big block and keep on buying if the price advances, selling the entire lot at the first signs of a temporary decline. The little fellow cannot afford to play the game this way.

PLANS COMPLETE TO HEAR COURT PLEA OF MODE

Fort Payne, Ala., July 29.—(AP)—Preparations for holding the hearing on the habeas corpus application of Lee Mode, who was pardoned by the lieutenant governor of Arkansas while Governor Tom Terrall was absent from the state, were virtually completed here today on receipt of information that Judge Woodson J. Martin, of Gadsden, would come to Fort Payne for the hearing Saturday.

Mode is fighting to prevent his return to the Arkansas penitentiary and the habeas corpus application was filed immediately after Governor William W. Brandon, of Alabama, granted requisition of Governor Terrall several weeks ago.

At that time Mode was in jail here. An Arkansas penitentiary employee arrived to take the man back to prison, but Mode sought his freedom through habeas corpus proceedings. The man has remained in jail here since that action.

SPINDLES PLEDGED

South Carolina Mills Support Institute.

Spartanburg, S. C., July 29.—(AP)—At a meeting of members of the South Carolina Cotton Manufacturers' association this afternoon 2,200,144 spindles were pledged to the proposed cotton textile institute. The meeting was presided over by J. Choice Evans, president, and heard the report of John A. Law, of Spartanburg, and B. E. Geer, of Greenville, who were delegates to the meeting held in New York, at which time the cotton textile institute was planned.

It is the plan of the institution to pledge 18,000,000 spindles, one-half of those in the country, to membership before the organization begins to function.

GOOD PROSPECTS SEEN IN SHEEP, WOOL INDUSTRY

Continued good returns in the sheep industry were seen by the United States department of agriculture in its July sheep and wool report just issued. A 10 per cent increase in the 1926 lamb crop was reported, but with the present demand outlook lamb prices during the next 12 months may average only slightly lower than during the past 12 months, it was said.

With regard to wool, the department said that while prices may continue near their present levels for some time, there are no present indications of a return to the very favorable market which existed at the end of 1924.

Factors that department economists believed might influence unfavorably the outlook for marketing the 1926 lamb crop were the indicated increase in hog supplies next spring and a possible slackening in business activity. Favorable factors are the prospective reduction in cattle slaughter for the next 12 months and high hog prices through 1926.

Consumption of wool in the United States is at a very low point, and domestic wool prices are so low in relation to London prices that it is not likely they would be unfavorably affected by minor changes in world prices, it was said. Any increase in mill takings in this country would strengthen the domestic situation.

Southern Station Burns.

Clairfield, Tenn., July 29.—(AP)—The Southern railway station, two mercantile establishments and two dwelling houses were destroyed by fire of unascertained origin here. The loss will approximate $50,000, with only a small portion covered by insurance. The flames were first discovered at 1:30 o'clock this morning in the store of Evans & McTeague, and rapidly swept to other buildings, reaching and destroying the railway station before being brought under control.

Associated Gas and Electric System

Founded in 1852

They Thought Stones Had Souls But It Was Electricity

In 588 B. C. the famous philosopher, Thales of Miletus, suggested to his companions that a stone might have a soul. He was attempting to explain why the "stone" which came from Phrygia attracted chips of iron. This was the beginning of an interest in electricity.

More Progress in Last 25 Years Than in the Previous 2,500

The centuries that have elapsed since this early experience show how slowly progress has been achieved. It is only within the last 25 years that electricity has come to be widely used.

Electricity has led to higher wages, shorter hours, and more comfortable living because it has enabled each man to produce more. It has lessened drudgery and made it possible for more people to lead happier and more productive lives.

The extent to which the Associated System is participating in furthering the use of electricity is evidenced by the addition of 33,000 new customers during the past year and by an increase of 22% in electrical output.

New York, July 29.—(AP)—Trading activities in the bond market today were overshadowed by the more spectacular movements of stock prices and the centering of investment interest on the day's new offerings. Buying and selling operations in both foreign and domestic bonds struck an even balance, but most of the changes were insignificant.

Independent exhibitions of strength were given by a number of rails liens, but the showing of this group as a whole was far from impressive. Unusual activity in Denver & Rio Grande Western 5s carried this issue to a new top price for the year, reviving reports that interest payments might be started before 1929, when they become compulsory. Canadian Pacific 4s, Illinois Central 3 1-2s, Norfolk & Western convertible 6s, Central of Georgia 5 1-2s and New York convertible 6s were strong.

Changes elsewhere were conflicting. West Virginia Coal & Coke 6s continued their recovery and Commercial Cable 4s, Dold Packing 6s, International Paper 5s and Skelly Oil 6 1-2s rallied 1 to 3 points. Botany Mills 6 1-2s declined 2 points following the recent announcement that dividends had been deferred because of strike conditions. Wickwire Steel 7s slumped 4 points to a new low for the year and Federated Metals 7s reacted more than 2 points.

Activity subsided still further in the foreign division with a corresponding narrowing of the price range. Nord Railways 6 1-2s, moving up more than a point were the chief feature of the French group. German issues were firm; government 7s and the Rheinelbe Union 7s both duplicating the year's top prices.

The day's financing involved diversified offerings aggregating more than $30,000,000, which were promptly sold. New issues tomorrow will include $5,500,000 five per cent bonds for the General Necessities corporation.

WHEAT ADVANCES ON CROP ESTIMATE

Chicago, July 29.—Sensational reduced unofficial estimates of the 1926 wheat yield in the Canadian prairie provinces brought about a lively upturn of wheat values today.

Closing quotations on wheat were strong at virtually the day's top figures, 2 1-2c to 3 1-2c net higher, with corn 1-2c to 3-4c up, oats unchanged to 1-8c off, and provisions varying from 25c decline to 10c gain.

The newest Canadian crop estimate came from a leading Chicago expert who has made an extensive tour of the spring wheat belt who says hot weather and insufficiency of moisture have greatly curtailed wheat prospects in the last month. His forecast is much below any other recent figures and is roundly 100,000,000 bushels less than was harvested last year in the Canadian territory referred to. According to this authority, the three prairie provinces will harvest this year not to exceed 279,000,000 bushels—Manitoba 35,000,000 bushels, Saskatchewan 196,000,000 and Alberta 48,000,000.

An unexpected rise in wheat quotations at Liverpool contributed further strength to the wheat market here. Besides the weather map failed to show rains which had been reported in Canada, and the forecast was for fair and warm conditions there, undesirable at present. Meanwhile, export business today amounted to 500,000 bushels, and the premiums paid for wheat at the Gulf of Mexico were relatively 1c a bushel higher. Vessel-room was chartered for 250,000 bushels to be shipped form Chicago to Buffalo.

Unfavorable crop reports from Iowa and Illinois together with high temperatures and lack of rain in various parts of the corn belt gave firmness to the corn market. Demand for oats lagged.

Provisions averaged lower as a result of eastern selling.

Sugar.

New York, July 29.—Raw sugar was unchanged today although a little better inquiry was reported. Sales were about 106,000 bags of Cuban from store and August shipment to local and outport refiners at 4.18, duty paid.

Trading in raw futures was light, but the undertone was steady, prices holding around the previous level on covering and trade buying. The close was 1 point net higher on September and unchanged on later deliveries. Approximate sales 11,000 tons. September closed 2.42; December 2.57; January 2.61; March 2.64; May 2.73.

Refined was less active for new business, although withdrawals continued in fair proportions with prices unchanged at 5.70 to 5.80 for fine granulated.

Dry Goods.

New York, July 29.—Cotton goods demand continued steady today, but was not quite as broad as a week ago. More sales of specialty fabrics were reported. Raw silk was easier at Yokohama on reports of a two days' holiday and accumulating stocks, but locally was five cents a pound higher on spot delivery. Silk goods sales continued in fair volume only. Interest in the wool goods trade was keen concerning the probable action on prices asked for fancy goods for spring, to be named next week. Should they remain on a low basis it is believed that buying will be stimulated and the trade in wool goods generally will become more active. Sales of tropical weights for spring continue better than staples. Burlaps were easier at Calcutta and virtually unchanged here.

European Disorder Blamed On Failure of America To Ratify Versailles Treaty

Greek Minister to France Also Blames Diverse Opinions on Security Clauses for Chaos.

Williamston, Mass., July 29.—(AP) Failure of America to ratify the Versailles treaty and diverse opinion in regard to security clauses in the league covenant have been largely responsible for the "disorder, anguish and misery" occasioned by the problems of disarmament and security, Dr. Nicholas Politis, Greek minister to France, told the Institute of Politics tonight.

France and Great Britain, he said, have taken widely divergent views on the matter of security. France first desired to insure security, he said, and was then ready to talk disarmament. Her attitude, he asserted, found justification in the unprotected boundaries of her country.

"England, on the other hand," he said, "has stood for disarmament first, believing that security will follow as a natural corollary of the confidence disarmament will produce.

"The divergent views which have kept us so far from a solution must be correlated, not on a basis of precedence of one over the other but on a basis of simultaneous, parallel progress."

The recent coal strike in England was caused largely by the transfer of German coal to that country in accordance with reparations agreements, Paul R. Harvey, international lecturer, said in his address before the institute today.

Dr. Mortiz J. Bonn, a German financial expert, in his address, said that France can stabilize her franc if she will pay the price of heavy taxation and strict economy. He said the German mark fell because of threats of the army of occupation, but France has no such excuse.

Mr. Mendelsohn-Bartholdy appealed to the United States for fairness in its judgment of Europe. He is a member of the commission for the arbitration of disputes arising in connection with the Dawes plan.

Decatur Street Property Bought Price Is $75,000

Negotiations were completed Thursday for transfer of property at 127 Decatur street by J. Carroll Payne, Atlanta attorney, to the Massell Realty company for $75,000, it was announced by Sam Massell, secretary of the realty concern.

The transaction was handled through the real estate department of the Trust Company of Georgia. Located on the property is a two-story building. The building will be remodeled at once, according to Mr. Massell.

As part of the transaction the realty company exchanged 295 feet of land at Peachtree road and Andrews drive. The site is a part of the Andrews subdivision.

Atlantan Injured When Hit by Car In Jacksonville

Jacksonville, Fla., July 29.—(AP)—Struck by an automobile early tonight in the exclusive Riverside residential section, S. H. Lilly, of Atlanta, Ga., was in a serious condition, attending physicians said, at a local hospital.

J. F. Cole, of Athens, Ga., driver of the automobile, was being held by the police without bond, pending investigation by representatives of the state's attorney.

Lilly, it was said, was hit as he ran across the street in an effort to seek shelter during a rainstorm. Late tonight the physicians, who at first held out no hope for his recovery, said that Lilly had shown some improvement. He was injured about the head.

S. H. Lilly is a bricklayer residing at 433 Glenwood avenue, according to the Atlanta city directory. His family could not be reached Thursday night.

Wood Says "Ring Rule" Instead of Bonds Is Campaign Issue

Columbus, Ga., July 29.—(Special.) Outlining his plans to reorganize the highway department and the department of agriculture if elected governor, J. O. Wood, of Atlanta, addressed a mass meeting of voters here tonight in the Muscogee county courthouse. He bitterly attacked what he termed the "Holder-Brown" machine and declared that "ring rule" instead of bonds constitutes the principal issue in the present gubernatorial race.

Mr. Wood renewed his charge that Chairman John N. Holder, his opponent, is resorting to a policy of "bootlegging mileage" to various Georgia counties in order to win votes. He called on Mr. Holder to let the counties of Georgia know before the primary just what their allocation of highway mileage will actually be, and declared that Mr. Holder has promised several times more mileage than he can possibly deliver.

Instead of publicly making his mileage allocations, the speaker charged, Mr. Holder has followed a practice of whispering promises behind closed doors to delegations of citizens from various counties seeking road improvement.

"Fully 90 per cent of those to whom mileage has been promised will wake up sorely disappointed," he said.

The speaker asserted that he doubted the sincerity of Chairman Holder's expressed opposition to road bonds, and quoted Mr. Holder as declaring before the Atlanta Motor club that a bond issue is "the only way" to build the state highway system. "A bond issue does not require the governor's approval and the governor does not have the power to veto it. However, in event anyone cares to know my views on bonds, you will find my vote against the measure in the minutes of the general assembly last summer."

BODY OF COLUMBUS YOUTH IS FOUND IN CHATTAHOOCHEE

FOREIGN CONFLICTS OPPOSED BY GEORGE

Statesboro, Ga., July 29.—(AP)—Declaring that with his power he would oppose war that would necessitate home boys going to a foreign land, Senator Walter F. George addressed a large crowd in the courthouse here today at the noon hour. He was introduced by his college mate, Howell Cone, of this city.

It was feared that the senator would not have a large crowd on account of the bad weather, but when the speaking hour came it was necessary to bring in chairs.

The senator gave an account of his stewardship in Washington during his three and a half years. He dwelt at length on the world court and declared that we have had a world court since the United States signed a treaty with England in 1899 known as the Hague treaty. That is practically the same thing, he said, as a world court.

Senator George spoke for an hour and a half, and so interested were his hearers they did not interrupt him with applause—his hearers simply drank it in, and at his conclusion the senator was busy shaking hands with admirers.

One thing that seemed to take was his statement that he had never sent out through the mails any of his speeches.

He spent some time on the farming subject, and declared the agricultural problem is the problem of today.

Amusements

Atlanta Theater.

The sixth successful week of municipal light opera at the Atlanta theater offers Vera Myers, Lou Powers and Anne Yago as the hits of the season in "Katinka," the bright and tuneful musical comedy of Rudolf Friml's. Also there are half a dozen real song hits in the show which is of the strict musical comedy variety. "Rackety-Coo" is sung by Vera Myers and Arthur Burckley; "I Want to Marry a Male Quartet," by Anne Yago nearly stops the show, and "Shidikiscatch," a comedy duet, scores heavily as sung by William McLeod and Lou Powers. The ballet gives a number of pretty dances and solo numbers.

Loew's Grand.

Presenting a lively novelty dance act, entitled "Our Own Night Club," the Muriel and Fisher revue, headline attractions at Loew's Grand, is scoring a big hit at all daily shows. Another strong act on the bill is that of Harry Cardiff and Mary Wales. They offer several ludicrous travesties on popular plays. The Three Silvers appear in the greatest acrobatic act seen here this season. Dan Jarrett and Jean Dalrymple present a clever comedy sketch based on domestic life. Arthur and Lydia Wilson sing a number of pleasing harmony selections. "Bigger Than Barnum's" is the Loew picture.

The Howard.

"The Midnight Sun," a picture remarkable for the dramatic strength of its story, for the richness and color of its scenes, and for the acting power of its players, is the attraction at the Howard theater. It was directed by Dimitri Buchowetzki, noted Russian playwright, and presented by four featured players and an all-star cast.

The picture is a spectacular and dramatic story of St. Petersburg, Russia, during the reign of the last czar. All of the seductive luxury of the nobility and the country's wealthy has been caught and presented in a lavish manner.

Some of the best dancing Atlanta people have had the privilege of enjoying in several seasons is to be seen this week in Paul Oscard's Publix revue, "Southern Memories." There is a whole company of dancers, both men and girls.

Rialto Theater.

"Under Western Skies," which is a picture story of a fight between Oregon ranchers and eastern capitalists for the possession of the rich wheat fields of that state, is featured by splendid acting, new and novel situations and much beautiful photography. It is at the Rialto.

The many thrilling scenes of the Pendleton Round-up of 1925 are given in complete detail, Universal having purchased the exclusive rights to the show. These scenes are marked by a thrilling steeplechase in which Kerry is seen doing much daring riding.

The Metropolitan.

Richard Barthelmess is the star of "Ranson's Folly," which is playing at the Metropolitan theater this week. It is a tale of army life at a western army post in the early 80's. It is just at the time that the Indians have been quelled and there is practically nothing in the way of excitement going around.

Barthelmess portrays the role of Lieutenant Ranson, a young army officer who finds the life at the post entirely too dull and uninteresting for him and the escapade which he becomes entangled in on his search for adventure makes the picture thoroughly enjoyable.

A special feature reel starring Vendetta, Frank Adair's champion mare, is also on this week's program at the Metropolitan. An Andy Gump comedy and overture round out the bill.

Coming To Metropolitan.

Spectacular water scenes, where a police boat chases a small motor launch firing shots with a one-pounder, feature Mary Pickford's new picture, "Sparrows," which will be seen at the Metropolitan theater next week.

These scenes were made at San Pedro, Cal., after night. Miss Pickford, with nine little children, was in the motor launch. The police boat is in pursuit. The police believe the boat is driven by a band of criminals and they open fire when the launch continues to speed ahead.

Tudor Theater.

Now showing at the Tudor theater is one of the best western pictures which has appeared on any screen in a long while, Hoot Gibson, running wild in "The Man in the Saddle," the story of a daring rider of the west, who goes in and out of adventure in true Gibson style, riding and fighting to his heart's content. All in all, the picture is a darb for entertainment of the fast, actionful sort.

West End Theater.

Wallace Beery is seen at the West End theater for the last times today in "King Richard, the Lion-Hearted," a thrilling romance of the days of King Richard and of the crusades that took him into distant lands for the holy cause.

This is the role that Beery created in "Robin Hood" and his performance in this film is said to be even better than that of "Robin Hood." He is supported by a very capable cast.

POWELL ENTERED FOR SCHOOL BOARD

George W. Powell, of 143 Paige avenue, prominent business man and civic leader, became a candidate for the board of education from the ninth ward Thursday when a number of citizens paid his entrance fee to W. J. Laney, secretary of the democratic executive committee. Oscar Mills, now member of the board from that ward, has announced his intention of not standing for reelection.

GEORGE W. POWELL.

Mr. Powell is a member of a number of business and civic organizations, including the Chamber of Commerce and the Capital City club. He is a trustee of the Epworth Methodist church and has been active in various civic enterprises. He is at present southeastern manager of the American Mutual Liability Insurance company.

The 11 citizens from his ward to pay the fee were John M. Miller, W. M. Spratlin, Paul Lindsay, Arthur Brooke, E. D. Ivey, Harlee Branch, T. T. Baugh, Dr. Linton Smith, J. L. McCord, George West and Henry B. Longino. A letter indorsing his candidacy accompanied the entrance fee.

Commenting on his entry as a candidate, Mr. Powell said:

"I am conscious of the compliment which has been paid me and shall endeavor to conduct myself, both in the campaign and as a member of the board of education, in a manner that will not abuse this confidence.

"If there ever was a time when our loyal and patriotic citizens should be willing to serve the public it is now, and there is no more important place for service than on the board of education. During the next three or four years the board will expend several million dollars for new schools and for improvements to our old schools. The interests of about 60,000 school children are in the hands of the board, the members of which have a great responsibility. I regard the call to this service a demand for patriotism, vision and the duty to consider every matter which comes up for action entirely upon its merits regardless of who or what faction favors or opposes it.

"I neither favor a policy of extravagance nor one of ultra-conservatism, but I do stand for a policy that will give our boys and girls equal opportunities with those of other progressive American cities."

FATE OF J. W. WEST IN HANDS OF JURY

Statesboro, Ga., July 29.—(AP)—The fate of J. W. West, charged with the murder of Arthur Clayton, a neighbor, now rests with the jury that heard the case being tried for the past two days in superior court. The evidence was turned over to them at noon today.

The trial tended to show that the two men had been on unfriendly terms and during an altercation West shot and killed Clayton. The defense claimed self-defense.

New Emory Building To House Auditorium And Dining Room

Emory University, Ga., July 29.—(Special.)—Plans have been altered to permit the housing of both the auditorium and the dining hall in the new building now being constructed at Emory university, it is announced by President Harvey W. Cox.

The principal change in plans has been to go ahead with the construction of the basement kitchen annex to the new building. This addition will involve an expenditure of approximately $10,000. The provision of this kitchen space will make it possible to house the university dining hall in the basement of the new building, and at the same time to use the main floor space, which eventually will become the dining hall, for a chapel.

Contract for the addition already has been let to the Southern Ferro-Concrete Construction company, holders of the contract for the original structure. The entire building will be completed by January 1 at a cost of approximately $125,000. The old dining hall, a wood structure, will be remodel and used as a gymnasium.
